

STATE HIGHWAY PATROL MEASURE IS PASSED BY HOUSE TO CREATE GEORGIA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

CAIRO THREATENED AS FLOOD WATERS STAGE NEW RISE

River Pushed to Crest of 59.54 Feet, Only 5 1/2 Inches Short of Bulwark; 55 Rescue Boats Stand Ready If Levee Breaks.

200,000 HOMELESS IN COLD WEATHER

15 Workers Lose Lives at New Madrid, Mo., When Barge Sinks; Thousands Are Huddled in Tents.

By the Associated Press.
The Ohio, dumping its biggest flood of all time into the ever-rising Mississippi, brought new menace last night to Cairo, Ill., just as the men of that city had thought they had won a long fight against the river.

The Ohio, lapping up close to the top of the city's 60-foot seawall, for 45 straight hours had stood stationary. Suddenly, it began rearing a new crest; pushed the stage to 59.54 feet, only 5 1/2 inches short of the bulwark, which, however, had a temporary superstructure of three feet.

The mayor already had warned against "premature rejoicing," and at this change in affairs the coast guard, standing by with 55 rescue boats, ordered for the first time an all-night watch.

To the south, the flooded upper Mississippi at some points had been swept by high, levee-menacing winds which in the night were abating.

Rains Feared.
A feared eventuality in the Mississippi river was general rain over major tributaries before the volume poured into the river by the Ohio could be cleared through.

Such rains, said a government engineer at Baton Rouge, La., might bring about a flood on the lower river—presently not regarded in danger—“even greater than 1927.” Officials said that without such an eventuality, the big levee line in all probability would hold.

Far upstream, flood-menaced New Madrid, Mo., heard with sorrow that at least 15 levee workers had lost their lives in trying to protect that area. The discovery that number—perhaps more—had drowned in a large submersible came after earlier belief that only six had been lost.

The plight of flood refugees was nowhere reported more uncomfortable than at the Arkansas levee, where thousands huddled on a ridge in tents, or spent waking hours in heated public buildings, in subfreezing weather.

Water Creeps South.
Between that ridge and the river itself water released by tributary levee breaks crept coldly southward.

Elsewhere in the Mississippi valley where the Red Cross said some 200,000 lowlanders already were homeless, the wind-disturbed waters broke a secondary dike, at the hamlet of Besse, Tenn., for a fourth time.

Nearby Tiptonville, Tenn., was threatened with isolation. Hickman, Ky., behind a wall and sandbag barricade, was for a time in danger—again from the wind's action—before the blow subsided.

This threat has been recognized by army engineers as the worst along the Mississippi—they have said that without the wind's aid menace the prospect was that the billion-dollar levee system would stand the test.

The flood disaster nationally had cost more than 400 lives, under the ARLIE TUCKER.

TWO STATE POSTS FILLED BY RIVERS

H. H. Watson Named to Revenue Commission; Tucker Succeeds Sims.

Two more Talmadge-named state officials, whose appointments failed to obtain confirmation by the state senate were supplanted yesterday by Governor Rivers.

Herman H. Watson, Dallas motor car dealer and former Paulding county member of the general assembly, was named to succeed A. L. Crowe, of Smyrna, as a member of the state revenue commission, and Arlie D. Tucker, of Nashville, former speaker of the house of representatives, was named to membership on the state industrial commission to succeed Ralph Sims of Atlanta.

Watson will be given the oath of his new office today. Tucker was present when his appointment was announced by Governor Rivers and he was immediately sworn in.

The new revenue commissioner has a six-year appointment which dates from January 1, 1936 to January 1, 1942. Former Commissioner R. E. Matheson's term expired at the start of last year, but he was not replaced by Crowe until early in February. Watson will be in charge of the collection of cigar and cigarette taxes as well as delinquent taxes. He will serve on the commission with Chairman Crowe.

HARTSFIELD SEEKS PLAN TO CONTINUE CITY RELIEF FUNDS

Mayor To Call Special Council Session If Assured $25,000 Allocation Will Receive Approval.

An attempt to solve Atlanta's emergency relief problem for February was started yesterday when Mayor Hartsfield volunteered to make efforts toward obtaining the required $25,000 for February relief operations from the city. The mayor's action followed threats of the entire welfare board to resign.

Hartsfield, in asking the board members not to resign and end operations February 15, said he would call council members and will call a special meeting of general council to consider a new resolution donating $25,000 to the welfare board for February, if the measure is assured of passage.

County Commissioner George F. Longino further told the board the county will turn its donation over to the city for relief administration by the city if the welfare department has to cease operation.

Bridges' Views Unchanged.
However, in the face of Hartsfield's plans to obtain council approval of the $25,000 February allocation, Alderman G. Dan Bridges said he would not vote to continue the present relief set up. Bridges was one of the two aldermen who Monday killed the council-approved resolutions allocating to the welfare board the necessary funds for February relief.

"My attitude has not changed," the alderman stated last night. "They have 117 workers in the Department of Public Welfare and many of them are paid too high salaries. I will hold up the relief allocation for two weeks even if it passes again in a special session." Alderman Robert Carpenter also opposed the present relief setup.

A poll of the aldermanic board showed that Aldermen Ed Gilliam and Frank Reynolds, who were not present when the aldermen stopped the relief allocation Monday, are in favor of giving the welfare department the funds immediately. Reynolds said "they can investigate the department and its administration afterward."

Executive Director Frank Miller, of the welfare department, revealed yesterday the department can operate until February 15 without incurring any debts. Special funds and allocations of relief already made will run the department until that date.

The department has more than 10,000 cases on file.

USTER WRIT READ TO AUTO STRIKERS; NEW TALKS LOOM

Men Ordered To Vacate Flint Plants; Lewis En Route; Knudsen Willing To Resume Parleys.

FLINT, Mich., (Wednesday) Feb. 3.—(UP)—Striking automobile workers holding two Fisher body plants told Governor Murphy today they would defy a circuit court injunction seeking their ouster.

By the Associated Press.
Evacuation of two General Motors factories was ordered yesterday amid a series of rapid-fire developments in the nation's strike centers.

At Flint, Mich., Circuit Judge Paul V. Gaudin granted an injunction commanding sit-down strikers vacate within 24 hours two General Motors plants there. He also prohibited picketing.

A short time later barricaded doors at the strikebound plants were swung open and Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott entered and read the order to the men inside the factories. The strikers remained.

Lewis En Route.
John L. Lewis, head of the Committee on Industrial Organization, left Washington for Detroit to take personal charge of the automotive strike. He said a conference with G. M. C. officials was indicated.

Homer Martin, president of the United Auto Workers, is en route to Detroit.

Snubbed by Boy Film Star, Jane Withers Wars on Rival

Freddie Bartholomew Remains Admant in Preferring "Stills" With Shirley Because Atlanta Star "Rates Too Low."

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—Hardened as it is to snubs and squabbles that embitter the private lives of its box office bluebirds, Hollywood is agast today over its newest feud.

The film colony is throbbing with excitement over a slumbering social row that has kindled into open warfare, revealing its three most famous children, Shirley Temple, Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew—as mere human beings, after all.

Those adult idols who in sudden bursts of frenzy, denounce one another in divorce courts or in night clubs, have come to be accepted as part of Hollywood's burden, something to be borne with fortitude and kindly publicity until they can be quieted.

But this row is different.

Freddie Bartholomew has openly and bitterly announced that he does not intend to be seen in public with Jane Withers, Atlanta's 11-year-old top-notch in boxoffice ranking.

They asked him to take Jane to the premiere of his latest picture, and in studied British accents—acquired in rehearsals for his latest picture—he announced:

"I'd rather not!"

"I'd rather not go at all than go with that dame!"

Those who had suggested that he accompany Jane to the premiere of his latest picture, when he suggested that he would not mind escorting Shirley Temple.

KIDNAPERS HOLD MISSOURI DOCTOR

Physician Abducted From Home Week Ago; Ransom of $5,000 Demanded

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tight-lipped investigators concentrated tonight on the safe return of Dr. J. C. B. Davis, 67, kidnaper, physician and leading citizen, to his family from whom $5,000 ransom has been demanded.

Dr. Davis disappeared a week ago after leaving his office with a stranger who asked him to make a professional call.

After confirming that the physician's family received a note in his own handwriting last Thursday morning, stating the kidnappers' demands, State Patrol Chief B. Marvin Costel declined to discuss progress of investigators.

It was known, however, that unsuccessful efforts were made last night to meet the kidnaper and pay the ransom.

It also was known that state police held and questioned a man in the city jail today.

Medicine Case Found.
Dr. Davis' medicine case, which he carried when he departed with the kidnaper, was found in a box in the trunk of a car found in the North Fork river, 15 miles southeast of here, last Friday. Despite the ominous discovery, members of the physician's family expressed confidence he would return unharmed.

Buster Brices, young farmer who found the case, waded out in the river and recovered it, then excitedly ran home barefooted over snow-covered fields.

In the bag he found a checkbook and prescription pad inscribed with the physician's name, as well as a stethoscope and medicine. The finder carefully washed and dried the bag of its contents, not knowing he possessed a medicine case.

Counties To Receive Fuel Tax Cash Soon

Distribution of $842,236.14 to counties of the state as their share of fuel oil tax revenues collected during the last quarter of 1936 will be one of the first tasks of the state treasury since the emergency appropriations measure unlocked its vaults.

Treasury attaches said yesterday the expected warrant to receive the Governor's approval today, when they will begin immediately to send checks to the 159 counties.

Among the checks will be the following: for Richmond county, $5,579.59; for Muscogee county, $5,568.65; for Chatham county, $5,232.39; and for Bibb county, $4,224.73.

NEW BRITISH KING ATTACKED BY RED

Gallagher Says George VI Is "Monarch That No One Is Sure of at All."

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—William Gallagher, England's only Communist parliamentarian, told the house of commons today King George VI is "a monarch that no one is sure of at all."

It was the first time the fiery little Communist or any other man had attacked the new King in parliament.

Gallagher—barred from entering the United States last August when he said he wanted to visit his sisters in Chicago—delivered his attack during a discussion of the measure providing for five regents should a sovereign succeed to the throne when less than 18 years old or become totally incapacitated.

(The Duke of Gloucester, the King's brother, would become regent if the heir to the throne, 10-year-old Princess Elizabeth, should succeed her father before he becomes 18, according to provisions of the bill.)

"There is not only the fact that you have had the abdication of a monarch who had been presented as the last word in an ideal man," Gallagher asserted, in reference to King Edward. "But you have now got a monarch that no one is sure of at all."

ALABAMA SOLONS VOTE REPEAL BILL

Measure Provides for Special Election March 10; Veto Is Overridden.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The Alabama legislature today passed a modified prohibition repeal bill over the veto of Governor Bibb Graves, automatically enacting the measure into law.

The bill provides for a special election March 10 in which every county voting for repeal will come under a state liquor control system regardless of the outcome of the state-wide vote.

Counties voting against repeal will retain Alabama's 22-year-old prohibition laws which ban everything but beer.

The vote on the passage of the measure over the Governor's veto was 65 to 32 in the house and 20 to 13 in the senate.

Alabama's prohibition laws veered between county local option to strict prohibition from 1907 to 1915, when the legislature enacted a series of laws regarded as the most stringent in the nation. They included a measure that banned everything that "looked, tasted, smelled or foamed like beer" and these laws remained on the statute books until 1932 when near-beer was legalized over the veto of former Governor B. M. Miller.

Sale in Package.
The repeal law enacted by the legislature today provides for sale of whisky and wine in package form only at state stores in the wet counties, with general sale of beer. Whisky and wine may be sold in unbroken packages at hotels, clubs and restaurants for consumption on the premises provided the establishment purchases the beverages from a state store.

A three-man state alcohol control board will direct the state-store system.

FLORIDA LAWMAKERS WILL CONTINUE FIGHT FOR NEW SHIP CANAL

Representatives and Senator Deny Project Would Endanger Water Supply.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—Two Florida representatives and one senator rallied to the defense of the proposed $120,000,000 trans-Florida ship canal tonight after statements attributed to Senator John Townsend, Republican, Delaware, that the canal might endanger the fresh water supply in the region through which it would pass.

Representative Joe Hendricks said he intended to press a fight in congress for construction of the canal. He said army engineers had maintained repeatedly that the sea level canal would not endanger the water supply. He said he was elected on a mandate from his district to fight for the canal and that he intended to carry it out.

Canal Defended.
Senator Claude Pepper and Representative R. A. Green also defended the canal and issued statements explaining their stand.

Senator Pepper said:
"My attention has been called to an interview given out in Miami by one of my fellow members of the senate—Senator Townsend. In it, the senator says, in substance, that regardless of what other may say, he knows from personal knowledge that the Florida ship canal will injure the water supply of Florida."

"I am confident that Senator Townsend, either was misquoted in some degree or, unintentionally, left a wrong impression."

Survey Recalled.
"I am sure the senator did not mean to say he knew more about geological conditions in Florida than the special board of army engineers. This board made a thorough personal examination of the proposed canal route; they explored every possible effect upon the water supply, and unanimously reported that it could not, under any circumstances, appreciably affect the water supply of the state."

"I am sure the senator did not mean to put his knowledge of Florida geological conditions against the very exhaustive investigation by the most eminent geologists of the country. The testimony of these experts was not challenged by any of the members of the board hearing the general board of army engineers here in December, at which all interested parties for or against the canal were invited to testify."

Green charged that canal opponents are attempting to defeat it by incorrectly contending that it is "unconformable" and by falsely asserting that it would ruin the fresh-water supply.

POPE OPTIMISTIC

Pontiff Plans Future Engagements, Vatican Says.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI contracted future engagements today as though he considered death unlikely to prevent their fulfillment.

Although his return to active consideration of church affairs was reported to have aggravated his suffering, the holy father was understood to be planning to go to his Castle Gandolfo summer residence at the end of May.

In addition to the March 7 date he has set for blessing a golden rose for Queen Elena, of Italy, the Pope tentatively scheduled the inauguration of the new pontifical academy for May 11, his name day.

As planned, the pontiff would celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary at Castel Gandolfo.

His condition was reported as reasonably good today after a night of troubled rest.

ELAINE'S ROLE FAILS TO AROUSE BARRYMORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—(AP)—If John Barrymore was jealous of his wife's stage career, he must feel better today. Her west coast stage debut here last night in "The Return of Hannibal" gave her too small a part to inspire jealousy.

The audience, which is little more than half filled, at the premiere of the play, received the classic sound play with pleasure, but it had to wait until the third scene from the end to get a glimpse of the brunette Elaine Jacobs Barrymore.

Even then, the estranged wife of the veteran actor made only two appearances, both times on the stage with the veteran Jerome Lawrence, playing the role of Hannibal. Carthaginian general who transported an invading army across the Alps about 200 B. C., and brought proud Rome to her knees.

Miss Barry had the role of the daughter. She played the part naturally, speaking the scanned lines in a clear strong voice.

'That's My Shadow, I Want To Get Back To My Hole'

A fractious ground hog made things rather uncomfortable yesterday morning when he kept from returning quickly to his lair after seeing his shadow, which to some indicates six more weeks of winter weather. Being interviewed at a downtown theater, he is shown with, left to right, John Fulton, George W. Mindling, head of the weather bureau; Frank Gaither and Johnny Dilbeck, zookeeper. Fulton and Gaither are the "Sidewalk Snappers."

Drop to 24 Degrees Is Due Today After Groundhog Sees His Shadow

The mercury is expected to drop this morning to 24 degrees within two degrees of the coldest registered this winter, the weatherman predicted. The coldest day of the winter was experienced last November prior to the visit of an out-of-season spring. Yesterday morning the low temperature was 23 degrees, accompanied by a light frost.

The weather, however, will be fair, the forecaster said with fair skies expected to continue for several days. No severe weather is in sight, he said. The high mark yesterday was 48 degrees.

For those who follow the ground-

HIGHWAY PATROL BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Joel, of Clarke county, Joel said satisfaction of the amendment would "put teeth in" the law, and leaving it out would mean an "imitation bill."

Revocation of drivers' licenses will be carried out under a set of rules and regulations to be drawn by the commissioner and the department of public safety under terms of the bill. Among other amendments, most of them minor, one was adopted to reduce the commissioner's salary from a proposed $6,000 to $4,800.

The Public Safety Department, composed of the governor, secretary of state, treasurer, comptroller general and state superintendent of schools, would have authority to name the commissioner.

The minimum number of men for the first year would be 80, and the maximum number 120. The first year's appropriation was set at $150,000, with $350,000 appropriated annually thereafter.

The $300,000 allotment was an increase of approximately $300,000 for the six months period over funds available to the board last year.

The Millersville institutions, largest of those under the jurisdiction of the board, received a monthly allotment of $76,000 through August last year and a total allotment of $149,000 for the remaining four months.

Rivers Invited to Speak.
Chairman J. P. Sheff, of the senate conservation committee, announced yesterday that Governor Rivers had been invited to address a joint meeting of the senate and house committee on conservation Thursday night on the proposed co-ordination of the forestry, geology and game and fish departments. The governor has announced he will accept if possible.

The house ways and means committee also will meet Thursday night to conduct a public hearing on the proposed chain store tax.

Seek Funds for Hospital.
Attempting to pave the way for early passage of a $319,373 emergency appropriation for the State hospital at Millersville, State Senator Paul Lindsay yesterday offered a bill to allow the legislature to consider special appropriation bills whenever it desired.

Under present law, special appropriations cannot be considered until the regular, biennial appropriation bill is passed and signed by the Governor.

The special bill for the Millersville hospital is to meet December salaries and to pay outstanding bills.

Electronium Board to Meet.
Mrs. William Healey, chairman of the board of control of electronium

He demanded the district attorney produce a pink nightgown, with the initials "M. M. M." supposedly found in Taylor's apartment after he was killed.

Investigators admitted they did not have possession of the garment. "For 15 years these recurrent so-called 'investigations' have continued to cast a cloud over Miss Minter's life," Marcus said. "The unjustified slurs have ruined her career and darkened her life."

"It has become an international case, hashed over and reheated in newspapers and magazines. Now we want a showdown."

Miss Minter, her eyes blazing, stepped in from her attorney.

Tells of Love.
"Where is the nightgown?" she asked. "There never was any nightgown with my initials on it, and it would not have been in Mr. Taylor's possession if I had one."

Then Miss Minter, her knuckles clasped to her mouth, made the admission that linked her to the case 15 years ago. She said:

"I was madly in love with Mr. Taylor. He was the one love of my life. But there never was anything but a fine and honorable relationship between us."

"One of the things that hurts me most is the continued slur on a dead man. It hurts me much more than the insinuations aimed at me."

Fitts assured Miss Minter the district attorney's office would not reopen the case.

"We have no evidence on which to reopen it," he said. "I assure you there is going to be no trial."

COLLEGE OF SURGEONS CONVENES HERE TODAY

More Than 500 of Nation's Leading Doctors To Attend Parley.

Atlanta will be host today to more than 500 surgeons attending the southern sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons at the Biltmore hotel. A three-day program has been arranged, ending with a public mass meeting Friday night at the First Baptist church.

The meeting will afford surgeons throughout the south the opportunity to hear nationally known specialists and to discuss their problems. More than 200 operative clinics will be conducted today and tomorrow.

Special exhibits, medical motion pictures, and scientific papers are on the program.

Among the most important discussions slated are those pertaining to hospital management and problems, in which field, leaders said, the College of Surgeons has taken a leading role. Among the distinguished surgeons coming for the meeting are Dr. George C. Little, of Cleveland; Dr. Charles L. Scudder, of Boston, and Dr. Chevalier L. Jackson, of Philadelphia.

Dr. Scudder will be here particularly to participate in the discussion of first aid stations for the Red Cross, which he has been established along the nation's roads in co-operation with the Red Cross.

HALF BILLION MEASURE ON TENANCY OFFERED

consider itself successful," President Roosevelt, had cited as an example "the prevalence of an un-American type of tenantry," adding:

"I do not suggest that every farm family has the capacity to earn a satisfactory living on its own farm. But many thousands of them are dependent on the state for financial assistance and with some advice and training, can be made self-supporting on land which is eventually belong to them. The nation would be wise to offer them that chance instead of permitting them to go along as they do now, year after year, with their future security in the hands of the state."

"Farm tenancy has long been one of our major farm problems," Representative Vinson said, "but heretofore we have had little opportunity to help small farmers because farm income has been so uncertain. In the past we have seen the price of cotton go sky high in one season and then drop to virtually nothing in the next."

Price Changes Blamed.
"As long as we had to put up with fluctuating prices like that, a man who already owned his farm had a tough time hanging on to it and it was virtually impossible for a tenant or cropper to acquire a piece of land. Even if a share cropper had a good year and made a down payment on a farm, the loss of the crop would come along. Since the Roosevelt administration has been in power we have been able to stabilize farm prices through the AAA."

For the last four years the price of cotton has been in the neighborhood of 12 cents, and our farmers are now assured that as long as this government is in power they will not have to worry about sharply fluctuating prices if they co-operate with the secretary of agriculture in his programs.

"With farm tenancy, we will stabilize prices with administration encouraging increased diversification and a live-at-home program we can now feel safe in attempting to help small farmers acquire family-sized farms of their own."

Farmers Trust Wallace.
"That is the object of the bill I have introduced. This bill places the responsibility of administering a program of this nature in the hands of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. He is a man in whom we trust him and they believe in him. So far as I can recall, he is the only secretary of agriculture who has ever had the confidence of the farmers of the nation."

"The need of an act of this kind is obvious to anyone familiar with the facts. More than 42 per cent of all the farmers in this country are tenants of one kind or another. Every agricultural section has some tenancy. It ranges from about 8 per cent in the New England states to better than 45 per cent in parts of the corn belt and a high of nearly 75 per cent in some parts of the Georgia, for example, latest available figures show that of the 255,598 farms in the state 174,390, or 68.2 per cent are operated by tenants and share croppers. A total of 1,418,514 people live on all the farms in Georgia and of this number 967,864 of them are tenant farmers or share croppers. These people tend more than 61 per cent of all the crop land in the state, and yet the average annual per capita farm value of crops for tenants and share croppers for the year 1929 was only $148.89. Surely such an important part of our farm population is entitled to every consideration the government can give."

No Speculation.
"The object of my bill is to change the status of present farm operators from tenants and share croppers to landowners. Land will be sold to prospective buyers at a fair price. The government will not do any speculating in farm lands, and will buy farms only at appraisal prices based on the actual productivity of the land. Interest rate will be low, with a set plan for retiring part of the principal with small payments over a long period of years. Supplies and equipment for operating the farm will be supplied at a reasonable charge. Each farm purchaser will be fully outfitted from the beginning so he won't find himself without the proper equipment to make a crop."

"I have found considerable sentiment in congress for legislation of this type, and feel safe in predicting that this congress will pass legislation to aid small farmers, even though it may be necessary to make some technical changes in my bill."

Widow of Pretender To British Throne Dies
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Anne Elizabeth Guelp, whose late husband, John Guelp, called himself heir to the British throne, died at her home here yesterday, it was revealed today.

Guelp died April 6, 1932. He called himself John Guelp de Windsor, saying he was the son of Edward VII and the Princess of Wales. His claims never were recognized by any British monarch. At the time of his death he was a bishop of the Wesleyan Episcopal church.

Guelp asserted that in 1860 the Prince of Wales, who became Edward VII, eloped with the Princess while on a tour of inspection at Camp Curragh, British military school in Ireland. They were married, he said, by a Catholic priest named Vaughan. The marriage never was annulled, although Queen Victoria later forced her son to marry Princess Alexandra, of Denmark. Guelp said.

An international sensation resulted when Guelp published his memoirs including his story of his birth, in 1910, nine years after he was married in San Francisco.

A son of the deceased, Lionel Victor de Guelp, survives.

Relief Load, Tax Burdens Eased Under State Social Security Plan

Pension and Insurance Program for Georgia Explained
by Lamar Murdaugh as Legislature Starts To Shape Bills.

By RALPH T. JONES.

When Georgia has passed the necessary legislation and begins to participate in the federal old age pension plan, the United States, for the first time in the history of this state, will begin paying pensions to Confederate veterans. Which will mean a saving to the state of approximately $300,000 a year.

This will be done because 95 per cent of those now on the Confederate pension rolls are eligible for old-age pensions. They will be transferred to the old-age pension list and half the money they receive will come from the federal treasury, the other half from the state. In cases where the Confederate pensions have amounted to more than they can draw from the old-age pension fund, the difference will be made up by Confederate pension checks.

Inasmuch as Georgia paid out more than $700,000 in Confederate pensions in 1936, it is estimated that the bill will result in a saving to the state of at least $300,000.

Lamar Murdaugh, of McRae, an attorney whose understanding of the social security program of the federal government, in which this state is now, belatedly, arranging to participate, yesterday talked in detail of the legislation required and the methods of operation which will be put into effect after the necessary bills have been enacted and the needed constitutional amendment ratified.

Georgia to Get Millions.
It is a program which will bring to Georgia millions of dollars in federal money which this state, due to the refusal of Governor Talmahead to approve the program, has lost in the past. Under the Rivers regime the amount to be received will be limited only by the amount of state and local funds appropriated, the law placing the financial burden on the state and between state and federal resources. In other words, every dollar appropriated by the state, will be matched by a dollar from the United States treasury.

In addition to the influx of this new money into the state, it will result in ultimate saving to taxpayers by lifting the bulk of the heavy burden of relief, pauper aid and other charitable expenditures from the county and city taxpayers.

The first bill of the social security program to pass the house will be that providing for a general election next June and in June of every alternate year thereafter, a general election, thus obviating the need of numerous supreme court decisions that any election in which all voters have an equal chance to participate, is a general election, thus obviating the difficulty in creating, by statute, a general election in June. By doing this it will mean the people will vote for the constitution and amend it, required to put the social security legislation into effect next June instead of in November, 1938, thus avoiding that long delay.

Two Constitutional Amendments.
The constitutional amendments will be two, one permitting the state to levy taxes for old-age pensions and payment of benefits to dependent children, the blind and other helpless ones, and a companion measure extending the same privilege to the counties of the state. The latter is a technicality to make sure that the constitutional foundation of the program shall be sound.

The old-age pensions to be paid must not be confused with the form of old-age insurance benefits now in effect through the 1 per cent tax levied on salaries. The latter is an annuity, based on actuarial figures and the amount of the pension is determined by the amount of the annuity. The new department of welfare will have all power needed to take over the operation of any welfare or charitable agency in the state. It will be able to stop overlapping and to check thoroughly into the administration and handling of all charity funds, whether derived from tax money or from private sources.

It is believed the operation of the new department, through savings that will effect, will actually cost the taxpayers nothing, in addition to bringing in the large federal benefits. For there are many savings to be effected beside that of $300,000 through the Confederate pension fund. It is likewise believed, as time progresses and the department grows fully familiar with its duties, its powers and its authority, that other large savings, as yet unthought, will be achieved.

Taxpayers' Burdens Eased.
In any event, it will lift a tremendous financial burden from the county and city governments, thus easing the pain of the taxpayers of the state at the point where it is most severe. Incidentally, it looks as though it will provide a path to solution of the constantly increasing problem of relief in Atlanta and in Fulton county. There are, of course, numerous other details, but it is through the main outlines of the plan have been given here.

There is, too, a companion piece of legislation. The enactment later, that permitting the state to participate in the federal unemployment insurance program.

Owing to shortsightedness two years ago, Georgia is now contributing, through a tax upon employers, to this fund, but because she lacks enabling legislation, is reaping no benefits. Her contribution in 1936, for instance, was approximately $1,700,000.

Participation in this portion of the social security program will bring that sum and much more, back to the state. That, however, is virtually a different story. The unemployment insurance program will probably be administered under the Department of Labor. It will come later, in time for the state to participate in the program for the first six months of 1937. It was too late to join in during the first half of this year, before the present administration, with its whole-hearted co-operation with the Roosevelt federal administration, had taken over control of state affairs.

How Costs Are Split.
Of the total sum expended the county will pay 10 per cent, the state 40 per cent and the federal treasury 50 per cent.

The bill creating the new department will create in its scope to permit the department to accept contributions from municipalities and from private individuals and other sources.

In the case of municipalities, the contribution for care of their own poor may be turned over to the state department, with the proviso that it be expended within the municipality itself and that overhead or administration costs shall not exceed 10 per cent. Inasmuch as the federal government would match these funds, it would double the amount of money for relief in any city.

Thus the city of Atlanta, now contributing $25,000 monthly to the county welfare board, could contribute $15,000 to the new state department and receive $30,000 monthly in benefits to its helpless poor and its old people.

Private Gifts May Be Disbursed.
In the same way the department can accept private gifts for charitable purposes and administer them in accordance with the conditions set forth by the donor.

The bill gives the new department full control over all eleemosynary institutions in the state. It is planned to use these institutions in co-operation with the social security program, thus achieving a heavy financial saving and at the same time adding tremendously to the value of the work contributed by these various institutions.

The entire group of social security bills will, it is expected, be passed by the house by tonight, or certainly not later than tomorrow. They will then go to the senate and the project they will have been enacted into law about one week from today.

Then will come the setting up of the machinery for administration of the laws, a task which will necessarily take some little time. Those who have studied the program do not believe it possible that old-age pension checks may be ready by February 15, as desired by Governor Rivers, but they do believe every effort will be made to have them in the hands of the recipients as early as a date as possible.

Amounts Undetermined.
The amount to be expended in the state on the various social programs will not be known until after the legislature passes the needed appropriation. Whatever the amount, however, it will be doubled by the United States government.

Thus, if the legislature appropriates $1,000,000, the state and the blind and the dependent children and other helpless poor of the state will immediately begin to receive benefits at the rate of $2,000,000 annually. If the appropriation is $2,000,000, the total benefits will be $4,000,000, and so forth.

One interesting feature of the bill is that it gives the new department of welfare full authority to direct and to administer all forms of charity. If it is in power, it will be able to take over the operation of any welfare or charitable agency in the state. It will be able to stop overlapping and to check thoroughly into the administration and handling of all charity funds, whether derived from tax money or from private sources.

It is believed the operation of the new department, through savings that will effect, will actually cost the taxpayers nothing, in addition to bringing in the large federal benefits. For there are many savings to be effected beside that of $300,000 through the Confederate pension fund. It is likewise believed, as time progresses and the department grows fully familiar with its duties, its powers and its authority, that other large savings, as yet unthought, will be achieved.

NEW ORLEANS MOVIES POSTPONED BY FLOODS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Scores of Hollywood people felt the effects of the floods in the middle west and south today when two pictures, scheduled to be made in New Orleans, were postponed.

Charles R. Rogers, film producer, cancelled plans to send a camera crew immediately to start work on "New Orleans," and C. B. DeMille has delayed a research expedition to that city to gather data on the life of Jean LaFitte, notorious Louisiana buccaner.

most of the western part of the state has a different time not only from the eastern two-thirds but from Florida and all of the states to the north and east, in which the largest volume of Georgia's business is conducted.

Atlanta, Rome, Columbus, LaGrange and other central and eastern Georgia cities are on central standard time, despite the fact that Cincinnati, Detroit, Cleveland and other large cities lying west of Georgia are on eastern time.

However, Representative Chappell's bill is a definite step in the right direction and the benefits which would accrue from the standardization of time in Georgia would be far reaching and universal.

MISS PERKINS' FAILURE

There seems to be a growing conviction on the part of the public that Secretary of Labor Perkins has failed to rise to the height of the emergency created by the automobile strike. It is a conclusion which is apparently justified despite the handicaps under which the secretary has been working.

It should be remembered that labor is a rough-and-tumble field in which no woman can serve to the best advantage. That is what labor leaders were saying when Miss Perkins was appointed. That is what impartial observers realize as the stark facts of the labor struggle under modern conditions are driven home to the bosoms and business of the American people.

Secretary Perkins is a person of fine intentions and abilities. But she is primarily the social worker, leaning upon the statistics and formulas of case work. She has no gift for negotiation, but she has a positive genius for rubbing people the wrong way. The upshot is that she is up against it when the occasion arises for bringing together upon a common platform contending forces such as are now arrayed in battle front in Michigan and elsewhere.

The secretary has asked congress to rush through legislation to give her department the power to subpoena witnesses and records for the purpose of enabling the government to act with knowledge in settling labor disputes. The proposal has had a cool reception in congress, even though the President has indicated his approval. The point is that Miss Perkins irritated congress while asking for its help.

Interestingly enough, President Green, of the A. F. of L., has demurred to such an extension of authority. Mr. Green discerns the hand of compulsion in the glove of investigation. It is hard to believe that he was not consulted before congress was approached. It is equally hard to understand why, if he rejected the idea, it is being pressed in spite of his attitude.

The labor post in the cabinet should be held by an experienced man, capable of holding his own against the doughy fighters who bestride the field of industrial war. With all respect for the sex and with every recognition of its achievements in most quarters, it must be reassessed that women are not at their best in the hammer-and-tongs atmosphere of the labor struggle.

EDWARD C. PETERS

One by one the pioneers who aided in building Atlanta from a small town into a great city are passing away.

A citizen whose life for many years was devoted to promoting the business, social and religious life of Atlanta was lost in the death of Edward C. Peters.

Quiet and unostentatious, he went about doing good deeds for humanity, promoting and participating in worth-while development of the city's business and cultural life. Though retired for a number of years from business activity he continued his interest in movements looking to the betterment of the community.

He was the operator of Atlanta's first horse-car line, taking over the management of the company established by his father under the name of the Atlanta Street Car Company, was one of the group of men who organized the Cotton States Exposition here, and it was after that highly successful event that he and his associates turned over the Piedmont park tract to the city.

He was active in the industrial, banking and real estate business of the city, and the property now occupied by All Saints Episcopal church was given to that congregation by Mr. Peters and his mother.

Atlanta can ill afford to lose such a man as Edward Peters, but they will live in the minds of men by their worth-while deeds.

IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

The bill introduced by Representative Allen Chappell making a provision for eastern standard time in Georgia during the summer months and central standard time during the winter is a definite step toward the much needed standardization of time in all sections of the state.

During the past few years most of the communities in Georgia in the central time belt have adopted daylight saving time for the summer months. This automatically placed these communities on eastern standard time for this period of the year.

Under Representative Chappell's bill, all communities, as well as rural areas, which have not taken this progressive step would be joined, so far as the time observed, both winter and summer, is concerned, with the rest of the state.

Areas of the state now on eastern time would be affected to the extent that during the winter months they would change to central standard time.

It would be better if the whole state was placed on eastern standard time the year around, but certainly the provisions of Representative Chappell's bill will serve a good purpose in standardizing the time throughout the state during both the summer and winter months.

The line between the eastern and central standard time zones in Georgia now runs, roughly, north and south from the North Carolina line to the Florida line and to the east of Atlanta and west of Macon. Thus

What Is Going On in Russia?

Those defendants in the state treason trial in the Soviet capital literally fell over each other in accusing themselves and each other of the most heinous crimes. The thing is so unusual and even incomprehensible that the whole world watched with bated breath. News dispatches coming from Moscow were read and discussed with an intense feeling that something of much deeper significance was going on behind the scenes in Russia.

It is curious to observe in the first place that the defendants, as that other group which was executed a few months ago, accused themselves only of having had plans to assassinate Stalin, the Russian transportation system and in a future war hand over the Ukraine to Germany and eastern Siberia to Japan.

Why did they not kill Stalin for instance? They were amongst his intimates and associates and they were every day of the year. They never touched him. We are referred to Dostoevsky by Walter Duranty, of the North American Newspaper Alliance, who is attending the trial, for an explanation of the mysterious mentality and the self-accusations. But Radek is not a Russian. He is a Galician Jew. Radek is not as long in Russia as Mr. Duranty himself. Must we go to Dostoevsky for an explanation of the inner qualities of Mr. Duranty's cables?

I am convinced from my own observations in the U. S. S. R. and elsewhere that 80 per cent of the people intelligently interested in the evolution of the Stalinist dictatorship, are hoping for a war in which Russia will be defeated because the latter is the only means of getting rid of Stalin. But as to Trotsky dickered with Rudolf Hess, Hitler's lieutenant, and with agents of the Japanese general staff, I believe not only that Trotsky is incapable of this, but I also feel certain that neither Germany nor Japan would work through Trotsky and his followers with a view of overthrowing Russia. I believe Radek is a brazen liar. He can say, but not prove, that he was ever in touch with Trotsky since the latter left Russia.

But this does not explain why the defendants should accuse themselves. And yet here it must be taken into consideration that only those defendants are put on trial of which the prosecution is absolutely certain. They will confess and accuse each other mutually. Those who refused to lend themselves to this tragedy-comedy were executed in prison by the G. P. U., Tomski.

Behind it all looms a deep-going fear and disquietude of the ruling clique of what is in store for them. They tell certain that Russia will be involved in war before very many years. Germany is clearly and frankly arming for no other purpose but to seize Russian territory. Stalin and his friends are not sure, in spite of all high-sounding assurances, that Russia can stand up to the onslaught of Hitler's legions, aided by the Japanese army on the other end of the world. What they fear most of all is the rise of an opposition to the policy in the day of the armistice after defeat, that opposition would conceivably grow stronger and Stalin may be ousted.

Hence he is killing off that potential opposition right now, long before the outbreak of war. He is putting leaders and tens of thousands of lesser fry all over Russia are executed or exiled to possible places. These people are not really in opposition; they have a critical mentality which might lead them to speak out openly and form an opposition to Stalin in the days of war. What is going on here is that unhappy fact is a case of preventative mass-murder.

Of one thing, however, we may be certain. Stalin himself is killing off, and smashing the Communist parties abroad to pieces, is moving in the direction of Bonapartism. But I doubt whether he will himself be Bonaparte.

Good Morning.

BITSY AND HIGH LIFE.

Bitsy is a Boston terrier. High Life is a guinea pig. Both are day wrapped for High Life. Bitsy met me at the garage door and wanted to know what that fluttering about in my arms. In some way I managed to get the wrong impression of High Life right there and then. I was talking too much to him and too little to her, perhaps; any way, she didn't like it at all. Bitsy evidently made up her mind to get even with the newcomer if she ever got a chance. That was why she was in the late summer of 1936. High Life couldn't even crow, but he had enough to pick over Bitsy every time she went near the chicken yard fence.

The days passed and High Life could crow and strut his stuff, and did he? Bitsy would stand and look at him through the wire and growl and he would walk right up in her face and crow and scratch sand in her eyes. Every time I would go in the chicken yard to feed them or pick up the eggs, she would stand near the gate and whine, begging me to let her get in there and have it out with High Life.

It was just before Christmas, one balmy afternoon, I was cutting the grass in the back lawn and loing other odd jobs about the place. Bitsy was helping me look after everything, including High Life. He got tired of her threats, and before you knew it Jack Robinson he flew over the high fence right down in front of Bitsy, and threw his proud head back and crowed. Bitsy backed off, as much as to say, "Are you ready?" and laid those ears of hers over her head and he would walk right up in her face and crow and scratch sand in her eyes. Every time I would go in the chicken yard to feed them or pick up the eggs, she would stand near the gate and whine, begging me to let her get in there and have it out with High Life.

THE FUTURE

It has long been an accepted fact by learned pundits that there are really two "English" languages. One is spoken in England and the other in the United States.

Wonder, as the short wave radio develops and people in both countries become accustomed to hearing broadcasts from the other side, what will be the ultimate fate of "English" as it is spoken?

A century hence, for instance, will we call those elastic arrangements used by some men to hold up their pants, suspenders, as in America, or braces, as in England?

How will the great mass of people professing to be "English" become of the "oo" sound? Also, will we say "I have 'bean' out," "I have 'bin' out" or "I have 'ben' out"?

Will Americans learn that the name "Cholmondeley" is pronounced "Chumley," and will Englishmen recognize that the "Sault" of Saint Ste. Marie, is called "Sooy"?

And will we ever get together on the right pronunciation of that famous horse race, the "Derby" or the "Dabry"?

Getting down to this particular office, will the man who reads the stuff we write before it gets in type—and who puts the heading on it—remain an American or will he become an English subject? Will the opinions you read each day in col-

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

BAITING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A not-very-sly campaign to make judges rule the right way seems to be under way on the shoes of the unprincipled to make important decisions.

In the house, a charge was made that Federal Judge Gore had flouted the supreme court decision in the TVA case by issuing an injunction against TVA. The charge was investigated by three members of the house judiciary committee, who unanimously decided he had not. They found the supreme court had left open the questions involved in the Gore injunction. As one of the three investigators is a man who likes to bait judges whenever he has justification, the charge fell with a dull thud.

Then it was found that James Fly, TVA counsel who tried the case and lost it, refused to criticize Judge Gore. Mr. Fly absolved Gore of collusion or a utility frame-up.

This left the kickers somewhat shy on dust, but they have started out to find some other misconduct by Gore if they can. There is need of haste, as Gore is to try the main TVA case (set for March 8, but likely to be postponed).

FINESSE

No dust kicker is Senator Guffey, of Pennsylvania. In fact, to an umpire. He said he never debated with one after the court held his coal bill unconstitutional. However, if someone else wants to throw a little wet dust, Guffey is not averse to showing them where the shoes are. He made no charges against the court himself, but produced in the senate a book which did. He demanded investigation.

Those competent to guess his purpose say Mr. Guffey is vitally interested in the coming supreme court decision on the Wagner labor act and would like to have the senate investigation conducted before the case is tried.

More moderate congressional critics of the courts are inclined to doubt the wisdom of these tactics. They point out that it is a customary practice in sandlot baseball, but not considered good form in the big leagues. Umpires are only human. They like to keep their boots shiny. A little misdirected dust sometimes makes them very determined.

CORRECTIVE

President Roosevelt's legislative leaders made no secret of their opposition when Labor Secretary Perkins sent her message to congress requesting labor subpoena legislation. Speaker Bankhead was quoted as saying he did not like the idea of getting legislative messages from cabinet members. Senate Leader Robinson could not be found at first, but was quoted in the press next morning as siding with Bankhead.

A day or two later the press called upon Mr. Roosevelt for a semi-weekly press conference and found Senator Robinson sitting beside him. An inquisitive reporter asked why. The President responded that Senator Robinson was the representative of the Arkansas Traveler. Someone said that was a weekly paper and was not entitled to representation, but Mr. Robinson remained.

No one seemed to know why, possibly including Senator Robinson. More than one noted that the President took occasion to say in Mr. Roosevelt's press conference that he thought there were some good points in what Miss Perkins recommended.

The fact seems to be that Miss Perkins requested is what Mr. Roosevelt wants, but he is not prepared to come out and champion it just yet.

TROUBLE?

The regularity with which congressional leaders have said the wrong thing about many issues (constitutional amendments, courts, budget, labor, etc.) has started a suspicion that they are getting ready to fight some White House proposals. This conclusion does not seem to be warranted. The truth is the White House has been moving along swiftly without consulting the nominal leaders. The legislators have been left more or less in the dark about presidential thought. The situation is now being remedied.

The leaders may grumble, but when the time comes, they will jump through any presidential hoop that their corrupt frames will fit.

JUSTICE TRIUMPHANT

Civil service is a great thing, especially if you know how to use it. Consider the careers for a postmaster general who found that the two high third, a Democrat, was far down the list.

Now, as everyone knows, even the civil service law is no excuse for letting Republicans get postmasterhips in a Democratic administration. But what to do? The congressman lay awake two nights, and passed the word to his Democratic applicant, far down the list, to sit tight.

Then the congressman publicly announced that the private lives of all three applicants would be thoroughly investigated. The two high men immediately dropped out. The deserving Democrat got the job.

SILHOUETTES

The happiest days in each normal life are the days of free childhood. When joy, hope run rife. But she never knew them. These playmates divine, You see, she was married. A woman—at nine!

umns one and two of this page, continued to be called "editors," or be known, as in England, as "leaders." Will a policeman remain a "cop" or "bobby," or will we go British and call him a "Bobby" or a "Peeber." The possibilities are endless. This sort of thing could go on forever. Time in your short-wave on a good British style of dress, the police pick out of the ether, in a pronunciation way for yourself.

And, by the way, are you wearing "boots" in the American sense of "boots" in the British?

Discovered Myrna.

Did you know it was the late Rudolph Valentino who discovered Myrna Loy for the screen? He arranged for her first movie job in 1925, and predicted that, when she fell in love, she would be the screen's greatest actress. That prophecy is practically coming true. She fell in love with Arthur Hornblow Jr., Paramount producer, married him in 1935 and in the past year has probably advanced more quickly toward the topmost rung of the screen fame than any other individual player.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Saturday, February 3, 1912: "Macon, Ga., Feb. 2.—(Special)—Edward H. Bellinger, a demonstrator for a fire apparatus company, went down to Central City Park this morning on business, and while there he was shot by a man who was hiding in a bush. Bellinger was hit in the chest and was taken to the hospital. He is now in a critical condition. The police are looking for the shooter. Bellinger was a well-known figure in the community. He was a member of the fire department and had been in the service for many years. He was a very popular man and was loved by all who knew him. His death is a great loss to the community. The police are doing everything possible to find the shooter. They are sure that he will be caught soon. Bellinger's family is very sad. They are hoping for his recovery. The community is also very sad. They are all praying for his recovery. The police are sure that they will find the shooter soon. They are sure that they will bring him to justice. Bellinger's death is a great tragedy. It is a tragedy that could have been avoided. It is a tragedy that is a warning to all of us. It is a tragedy that is a reminder of the fragility of life. It is a tragedy that is a reminder of the importance of life. It is a tragedy that is a reminder of the need for love and compassion. It is a tragedy that is a reminder of the need for justice. ## 'DESIGNED FOR LIVING' ALWAYS APPLICABLE TO 'HEART OF HOUSE'

Proper Furnishing of Living Room Most Important in Modern Home.

By LEE ROGERS.

In the home, "Designed for Living," the living room naturally becomes the heart of the house, a prominent Atlanta society matron said yesterday. The remark came after viewing furniture displays in leading downtown furniture stores which are co-operating in The Constitution sponsored "Designed for Living" week (February 1 to 6). These stores are featuring pieces which are considered essential to the "comfortable, livable" home and are offering patrons suggestions for furnishing homes and apartments.

The modern living room has undergone a transition period. Today it is usually smaller and fewer pieces of furniture are found in it, naturally offering home-owners greater opportunities to display artistic abilities. Today the living room is not the dreary room of matched designs it once was, a local designer stated, but rather a room made cheerful by harmonious ensembles, featuring odd sofas and odd chairs.

Colorful Effect Sought.
"The trend is to get away from all darkness and into a colorful atmosphere that will invite habitation and will make people wish to come to your home and make it wish to be themselves," the furniture dealer continued.

In the "Designed for Living" homes, as a general rule, it is suggested that provision be made for conversation centers, reading, and writing when the living room furniture is arranged.

For conversational purposes, there is usually a day couch with a couple of easy chairs. These are augmented by other chairs if space permits. This group is usually arranged either before the fireplace or with the longest wall of the room forming the background. Additional chairs are added to maintain balance if necessary.

Piano and Radio.
In the reading group an easy chair with a floor lamp near by is usually found. If there is a piano in the room, it must be placed near a good light and the radio is to be placed with regard for ease in manipulation. The well equipped living room will be provided with reserve folding chairs and table for games and refreshments.

A writing group is a practical necessity in any living room of a home which contains no library. This should be placed near the window and with care to balancing other furniture.

Again, the style of furniture depends on the architecture of the house, the color of the room and individual taste.

Consider Service.

Living room furniture should be bought with care and with regard to service that will be required of it. All furniture dealers say. The same thought should be given to replacing it as is given to replacing the family automobile. Though, of course, furniture lasts longer.

Furniture dealers this week are offering, in co-operation with The Constitution, a service that will aid Atlantans in furnishing their homes under a "Designed for Living" plan. The living room should be the most attractive room in the house, should be inviting and cheerful, be furnished with the correct pieces, for it is here the outsider reads the character of the inhabitants.

LADY WILKES IS READY FOR NIGHT CLUB DEBUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Suzanne, Lady Wilkes, wife of Sir Hubert Wilkes, the polar explorer, will make her debut as a night club singer here tomorrow night. "I am a celebrity's wife," she said in explanation. "That is a terrible burden to carry. People say I trade on my husband's fame and name. . . . Now I'll show them I can stand on my own feet."

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged. Your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Get Creomulsion in right now. (Adv.)

I despise COLIC

"When I eat the wrong kind of food, or when my stomach turns sour, I often have the worst colic pains. And do I yell! But my mama is a smart mama and she gives me Teething, because Teething is a mild, gentle laxative. It cleanses my tiny bowels of irritating waste. This relieves my pain and relaxes me too, and I'm all set to go back to sleep. Teething tastes good and you get two powders for only 30c. All little babies like me also need Teething for temporary constipation and for those howls caused by a faulty diet." TEETHINA.

BLACK-DRAUGHT A Good Laxative

WOMEN OF ALL AGES

MANY women both young and middle-aged suffer from headache, backache or sideache, associated with functional disturbances. They should try that vegetable tonic so favorably known for nearly 70 years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read this: Mrs. Ellen Walker of 18 Shady Ave., Mill Village, Birmingham, Ala., said: "Before I was married I was very delicate. I became so thin and pale I was worried and everything would upset me. I suffered from pains in my back and head associated with functional disturbances. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and my appetite was increased and I gradually gained in every way." Sold by druggists.

REDS, REBELS LAUNCH NEW OFFENSE DRIVES; FASCISTS QUIT TOWN

Insurgent Armies Repulsed in Attempt To Cut Madrid-Valencia Highway

MADRID, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Fighting was renewed on all Madrid fronts today, with both Socialist government and Fascist insurgent troops attempting to press an offensive.

The insurgents shelled Valencia, on the southwest, but Madrid defense officials said the Fascists were unable to advance there in an apparent effort to cut the Madrid-Valencia highway.

There was an insurgent attack at El Plantio also, but the government announced its own troops were victorious.

Farther south, in the Aranjuez sector, the government attacked and there was intermittent gunfire in the University City suburb area.

In the Aranjuez sector, south of Madrid, government troops advanced almost to the town of Valdemoro, official reports declared. Fascists were evacuating the town, it was said.

Madrid's food control committee announced that beginning Friday, milk will be sold only by medical prescriptions, which will be given for none but babies, persons seriously ill, those wounded in the war and those who donate blood for transfusions and operations.

GEN. FRANCO VISIONS TOTALITARIAN STATE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—General Francisco Franco, Spain's insurgent dictator-designate, today outlined a program for a Spanish totalitarian state modeled on Italy, a concordat with the Catholic church and popular reforms in reply to questions asked by Roy W. Howard, editor of the New York World Telegram, and published by that newspaper in a copyrighted article today.

General Franco did not answer two of the questions. One of them was whether he would support a constitutional monarchy with a reconverted congress, and what limits he would place on suffrage. The other asked when Franco expected to capture Madrid.

EX-U. S. DOUGHBOY QUILTS AS SPANISH GENERAL

MADRID, Feb. 2.—(UP)—General Emilio Kieber, hulked "mystery man" of the Spanish civil war and erstwhile American doughboy, has given up command of the loyalist famous International Brigade, it was revealed tonight.

Kieber, who fights like a Tartar but talks with the polish of a diplomat, was said to have disappeared from Madrid.

* VIRGINIA FEELS 'QUAKE'

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Residents of a wide area in central Virginia reported what they believed to be a slight earthquake tonight.

Russell Moon, newspaper correspondent at Warminster, in Buckingham county, said houses shook and windows rattled in that area at 8:25 o'clock.

Inauguration Storm Draws F.D.R. Humor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is still kidding the weather bureau about the rain-storm that drenched his second inauguration.

Introduced today to W. J. Morone, acting chief of the bureau's river and flood division, the President said with mock seriousness: "You're the man I've been looking for ever since the inauguration."

HOLLYWOOD ROCKED BY CHILE STARS' ROW

a rival company, so the bigwigs of the company which bears the burden of promoting the social prestige of Jane and Shirley, rebelled.

They learned that Freddie had considered Jane too low in box-office rating. They were furious.

"She rates 11th nationally," they spluttered. "Where does he rate? Yeah, let him answer that. Where does he rate? Who does he think he is? Why, the little—"

The feud was scarcely started when the President's Birthday Ball arrived to serve as a climax for the setting. Hundreds of film notables were at the ball and the photographers were working overtime flash-lighting the celebrities.

Shirley Temple—as there and the photographers were shooting her for all they were worth.

Freddie Bartholomew was there, too. He saw Shirley being photographed and he made a bee-line for her and tried to make a twosome of the poses.

Studio officials from the company that exploits Shirley and Jane moved in, headed by Jack Mulcahy, former Santa Clara University football player. They formed a circle around Shirley, blocking out the excited Freddie.

No Withers—no Temple! they announced.

No pictures.

The pictures were not taken.

None of the principals would comment today, but it is reported that Jane Withers' mother is deeply chagrined and that Freddie is adamant. Hollywood is astounded.

All so new and so unexpected. Hollywood has learned by experience that its adult gods and goddesses are liable to tumble from their thrones at any moment, but they certainly expected its children to be above such earthly passions as jealousy and snobbery.

Freddie, for instance, has announced that he is planning to give up acting when "an old man of about 21" becomes a writer like Dickens. He intended to write "contemplative novels," he has told everyone, and he is only 11 years old.

And everyone believed that Jane Withers would be an excellent companion for him, because she is a deep thinker, too. Just recently, when she was passing through New York, she remarked about the city:

"It is all so overpoweringly impressive. An 11-year-old girl who can talk like that certainly would be a fruitful source of ideas for an 11-year-old boy who is plotting 'contemplative novels.'"

POLICE SEIZE $4,000 IN LOTTERY RAID HERE

Seizure of the largest amount of money ever confiscated in a lottery raid in Fulton county was reported yesterday afternoon by county police following a raid on a negro lottery headquarters and arrest of three persons.

County officers found $4,108.01 in a safe in the basement of a negro house at 347 Angier avenue late yesterday afternoon, and confiscated $400 worth of lottery tickets and other paraphernalia.

The arrested Robert Green, Carrie Sturghill and Frank Williamson, negroes, they said Williamson was the lottery company's "banker." The three were taken to the bonds of $1,000 each at Fulton Tower.

The cash and tickets were discovered in the basement headquarters by County Officers S. D. Vaughn, Jesse Anderson, Cal Cates and J. E. Wray, the lottery squad.

CHINESE GROCER SLAIN

VICKSBURG, Miss., Feb. 2.—(AP)—John Lee, a Chinese grocer, was found dead in his store here tonight. Police advanced the theory he had been slain in an attempted holdup.

Main Part of Meal, Baked in One Dish, Helps Mother

This baking dish is partially filled with scalloped potatoes. The pork chops were browned in a pan, seasoned and placed atop the potatoes. With the cover on, the dish was placed in a moderate oven where the slow cooking with a little moisture did the chops to a turn, as well as cooked the potatoes. A splendid dish to take on an outing any time of the year; wrapped snugly in newspapers, it will stay hot a long time.

THE COOK'S NOTE BOOK

By RUTH CHAMBERS.

There's something of the gypsy in the hearts of most of us, and surely the "call of the road" is an easy one to answer these days. Never before in the history of mankind has it been possible to cover distance so swiftly and comfortably. It's little wonder, then, that picnics are more popular than ever.

Whether one goes riding primarily for the sake of the picnic or whether eating by the roadside is one of the incidental charms of an auto trip, there is a zest to food eaten in the open which is somehow never found ready to be packed. Then you won't be in danger of forgetting necessary utensils.

An advantage of this hot-dish service for a picnic is that it satisfies hungry appetites more completely than sandwiches. And it is much easier to prepare this dish, especially for a large group, than to cut, butter and spread innumerable slices of bread.

Rolls and bread, also cake, pickles and the rest of the usual picnic fare, according to your preference and convenience, accompany the hot dish. Here are suggestions for meat and vegetable combinations for your picnic menu.

TODAY'S DINNER

Buttered Buns Sweet Pickles
Toasted Marshmallows on Crackers
Coffee

When we dine beneath a roof. Appetites are made keener, which is one reason for going on a picnic. Even the fussiest child is apt to settle down to the business of eating with a great deal of enthusiasm on such an occasion.

Easing Mother's Part.
"Fun for everyone but mother," sighed one housewife, who dreads the task of making dozens of sandwiches, and wrapping them in wax paper, of cooking and peeling a supply of eggs, and of arranging all the other details of that so-important picnic hamper. But there are ways of solving these difficulties so that mother's task need not be any more difficult than it is when she prepares a dinner at home. One of these ways is to carry a ready-prepared meal to the feast in place of the bothersome and sometimes monotonous sandwich supply.

This isn't any more cumbersome to carry or difficult to serve than the more conventional picnic fare, according to those who have adopted the method. One hot dish of meat and vegetables, or of ground beef and spaghetti, or similar combination, is carried to the picnic either in the baking dish in which the food was cooked, wrapped in newspapers for insulation, or in any heavy utensil with a tight cover. The newspapers in which the dish is wrapped come in very handy to spread on the ground, or camp chairs, or atop the tables, wherever needed.

Keep Hamper Handy.
Neatly packed in another hamper are the picnic dishes, including deep plates, knives, forks and spoons. If your family is made up of picnic addicts, it's a good plan to have a picnic dishes which may be kept all year.

Two Laborers, James Matson and George Buchanan, spoke caustically against the bill, with Matson expressing doubt of the wisdom of placing direction of the government in the hands of "four or five absolutely unknown persons."

But only Gallacher referred to King George personally.

Soon after the Communist "M. P." finished speaking, the regency bill, which the government had said the King himself proposed, was adopted on second reading. The vote was 305 to 1.

The State Department refused to permit Gallacher to come into the United States when he was traveling in Canada last fall, by applying the immigration act which prohibits entry of persons who belong to groups that supposedly have as their object the overthrow of governments, by force.

'SING ME A LOVE SONG' COMES TO PARAMOUNT

"Sing Me a Love Song," brilliant musical comedy with James Melton, golden-voiced radio star in the male lead, opens tomorrow at the Paramount theater, for a week's engagement, it was announced last night.

Besides Melton, the cast includes Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Allen Jenkins and Nat Pendleton. Melton made his movie debut last year in "Stars Over Broadway." The present film gives him plenty of opportunity to sing and act.

tem in the wet counties, naming a $5,000-a-year administrator to supervise the work.

To Divide Revenue.
Revenue from the state stores will go 50 per cent to the state's general fund; 10 per cent to the state for public welfare and old-age pensions; 10 per cent to the general fund of the 67 counties (wet or dry) in equal shares; 10 per cent to the counties in equal shares for public health, old-age pensions, and public welfare; and 20 per cent to the cities in which state stores are located.

A tax on Alabama chain stores on the number of units in their regional chain was proposed by Representative Bob Langdon, of Pickens county. His bill would levy a tax ranging from $20 to $600 a store according to the number of units in their regional chain, with the top tax falling on stores in a chain of 500 or more.

Alabama's present tax on chain stores is $300 and investigating, or service charge of 3 per cent a month in addition. The new law cuts the investigating charge to 1 per cent a month.

NEW TENNESSEE LAW CUTS INTEREST RATES

NASHVILLE, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Governor Browning signed into law today a bill reducing from 42 to 18 per cent the annual charge on loans that may be made on small loans.

An act passed 12 years ago allowed 6 per cent annual interest on loans up to $300 and investigating, or service charge of 3 per cent a month in addition. The new law cuts the investigating charge to 1 per cent a month.

The Governor also approved a bill postponing for 60 days from January 30 the filing of suits for delinquency in the payment of taxes. The bill is designed as a temporary measure to give the legislature opportunity to enact a far-reaching bill for relief of delinquent taxpayers.

INCREASE IS VOTED IN N. C. SUPREME COURT

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The general assembly voted today to increase the membership of the state supreme court from five to seven, received a social security bill providing for aid to blind and deaf-blind persons on the calendar the Hutchins liquor prohibition measure.

The measure to increase the court will become effective July 1, with the new associate justices being appointed by Governor Hoy.

Under the aid-to-blind bill, the state would appropriate $185,180 for aid to blind and deaf-blind persons on an equal amount and the federal government would furnish $170,300.

The liquor question, again thrashed out in committee, popped up unexpectedly on the floor when White, of Chowan, asked that the Hutchins bill, providing a state referendum on the prohibition of spirits, be placed on the calendar. The move was blocked, however, on a motion by Ward, of Craven.

SOUTH CAROLINA SEEKS BILLY LEGISLATURE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The house today defeated, 57 to 53, a resolution opposing election of any legislator to an assembly-filled job. The resolution said the practice of electing legislators to office "has evoked such general condemnation as to give rise to the charge that some citizens aspire to membership in the general assembly only to further promote an aspiration for a salaried position."

A group of senators introduced a measure to provide for a eight-month state-supported school term instead of the present seven months' term. It was referred to the education committee.

Representatives sponsored a series of five bills to amend the constitution so as to provide biennial sessions of the assembly and to elect house members for four years. It went to the judiciary committee.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN WATER-FILLED DITCH

WOODBURY, Tenn., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Horan Spikes, 43, bearing bruises and light cuts on the legs, was found today in a water-filled ditch near her farm home.

Her husband, T. Smith, said John Smith, 51-year-old farmer and his son, Clarius, were arrested in connection with her death a few hours after the body was discovered.

County Physician T. J. Bratton said he found no wounds on the woman's body which would have pointed to the cause of her death. He expressed the opinion the woman had been in the ditch for some time before she was found.

The change will be made "within a few months" when Sir George's return, it was stated. Sir George's successor in Berlin was not named.

OFFICIALS TO ATTEND DRUID HILLS SERVICE

Governor Rivers, members of the general assembly and all statehouse officials will be the honor guests of the Druid Hills Baptist church at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

Governor Rivers, President John N. Harris, of the senate, and Speaker Roy Harris, of the house, will make brief addresses. Statehouse officials will occupy seats on the platform and members of the general assembly and their families will occupy specially reserved seats.

Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor at Druid Hills, will deliver a specially prepared sermon from the text, "All Power Is From God." The addresses of Governor Rivers, President Spivey and Speaker Harris together with the sermon by Dr. Newton will be broadcast over radio station WGST.

man J. B. Jones and Comptroller General William B. Harrison, an ex-officio member.

Other Members.
In addition to Tucker the membership on the industrial commission includes Chairman Hal M. Stanley, elected last year to a four-year term, and B. S. Elrod, of Atlanta, who still has two years on a four-year term to serve.

The general assembly now has pending before it two bills for reorganization of the industrial commission to create a labor department, including an employment service which will co-operate with the United States re-employment service.

This proposal was referred to the subcommittee of the labor committee of the house.

The appointment of Mr. Watson and Mr. Tucker I think will mean the wholehearted approval of the people of the state," Governor Rivers said. "Mr. Watson is one of North Georgia's best-known citizens and is the first major appointment since the seventh congressional district, I expect him to take on his new job tomorrow."

"The Governor said Tucker was named to the industrial commission because of his experience in compensation work gained during service in the state highway department."

"Mr. Tucker has a fine legislative record and is outstanding in various fields," the Governor said.

If and when the department is reorganized, it is understood Chairman Stanley will remain the helm and Tucker will be one of the three directors. Elrod, a Talmadge appointee, is understood to be slated to go.

AUTO STRIKERS HEAR SHERIFF READ OUSTER

United Automobile Workers of America, announced the union probably would appear Judge Goddard's injunction, but concerning the removal of men from the plants he said: "We will not fight the government."

William S. Kauden, executive vice president of General Motors, said the company would open negotiations with the union as soon as the plants were evacuated.

The Guide Lamp and Delco-Remy divisions of General Motors reopened at Anderson, Ind., for limited operations. More than 10,000 men were scheduled to return to work.

Meantime, strikers on the west coast voted on whether they would accept new working agreements and end their three-month idleness. Union spokesmen predicted the ballot would terminate the shipping tie-up.

Rigid military control of the strike zone, covering 50 acres and encompassing 12 General Motors plants, shut off passage of food supplies to several hundred union members who had started a new sit-down in the Chevrolet motor assembly department.

In Washington the President said the question as to what the government might do was an "iffy" one.

A new strike broke out at Detroit. The Kolman Corporation plant was closed down when a sit-down demonstration was called by the Mechanical Educational Society of America. Four hundred men remained inside the plant.

Toledo, Ohio, experienced "walk-aways" and "slow-down" strikes.

Five hundred employees of the City Auto Stamping Company abandoned the plant to go to the aid of automobile strikers in Flint. Employees at the Spicer Manufacturing Company retarded production in protest against a dispute over the signing of new contracts.

U. S. CHAMBER CHIEF HITS 'SIT-DOWNERS'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, tonight condemned "sit-down" strikes as "an usurpation by forceful invasion of the contract rights of employees as well as employers."

Such seizure of factories, Sibley told the Committee of One Hundred, "is an adaptation of forceful methods used on the continent of Europe for political ends. It is a method aimed at intimidation not only of employees and employers but of the public."

Sibley did not mention by name the General Motors labor dispute.

Grant and Budge to Renew Rivalry Here February 14

Even Though This Town Be Dark--- There's Basketball Light

If you should ask that old childhood gag in Cusseta, Georgia—
I mean that one—"Where was Moses when the lights went out?"—they'd say:
"Why, at the basketball game of course. Where else would he be?"

Because the town of Cusseta, Georgia, is THE MOST LOYAL BASKETBALL TOWN IN AMERICA. Up in Indiana on the banks of that small, muddy stream they call the Wabash, they are supposed to be mildly enthusiastic about basketball.
But, in Cusseta—well, here's the story.
The electric light plant supplies the subscribers in Cusseta with light at a flat rate.

And when all the lights are burning there isn't enough power to illuminate the gymnasium sufficiently to play basketball as it should be played.
The town's loyalty is such that on basketball nights the citizens turn out all their lights. Those who can't go to the game sit in darkness until the boys and girls have defeated their rivals at the gymnasium.

The teams have a great record.
Almost every city in Georgia, large or small, has a basketball "shell." They have become community centers. And some of these days some smart young lad doing his doctor's thesis is going to do a very fine one on the influence of the basketball shell on rural America.

GRANDPAPPY BECKETT.

Out at the Capital City Club yesterday I found Grandpappy Howard Beckett all bent over like a red cap toting five suitcases.

"The ordeal of becoming a grandpappy is a terrible thing," he said. "It's worse than becoming a father."
He looked around his golf shop and selected an old brassie to use as a cane.

"When you become a father you've got only yourself to suffer with. When you become a grandpappy you have to hold up three or four more people who are too excited to stand."

"What I want to know is what you think about this young man Lawson Little?"

"Has he become a grandfather?"
"No, he just polished off the professional field in a match play tournament at San Francisco."

"The tournament strain is nothing compared with the strain of becoming a grandparent."

Mr. Beckett has just returned from New York where he went to be initiated into the grandpappy's lodge. He is now busy getting installed the shower baths for the greens and fairways the Capital City Club is to have ready for the summer drouths.

"One of these days that Lawson Little fellow," he said, "is going to get used to the business of being a professional and then he is going to go places. In a hurry. Did I tell you they think my granddaughter looks like me?"

"Heaven help her," said I kindly, and departed. Mr. Beckett was telling "Willie" Livingstone, his assistant, he should hurry up and become a grandfather as soon as possible.

THE ART OF SCRAMBLING AROUND.

Out at East Lake, George Sargent, who was the open champion in 1909, had a few ideas about Lawson Little, who formally quit the amateur ranks one rainy afternoon last spring on the upstairs veranda of the Augusta National clubhouse.

Tornadoes were skulking in the hills and the rain had washed out the tournaments. So here was room for the news. Lawson Little, for two successive years the amateur champion of England and America, went for the money.

"As soon as he learns to scramble around," said Sargent, "he should go ahead and become about the best of the tournament players."

"Most of the present crop seem to have reached their peak. And if Lawson Little can get used to it all and learn to scramble around he will go ahead."

"The great art of scrambling around is to score well when you aren't playing well. You'll see many of the better players having what looks like a terrible round. They will be all over the course. But come up with a good score. That's what's known as scrambling around."

"He is pretty sure to have some great rounds. But in medal play one very bad round will cut you out. He has to learn to score fairly well when he's having that off-round with his game."

"In match play, to which he is more accustomed, you play the other fellow. But in medal play you really play yourself. And that's a little more difficult."

"I really think Little will find himself and become a great performer. He was right in the Canadian open a few weeks ago and now he has gained more confidence by that victory at San Francisco," concluded Sargent.

OUR MR GRANT—MISS KIRBY.

A couple of our athletic performers were in the news on yesterday.

At Miami Beach, Bitsy Grant won himself a tennis match. All indications point to the appearance of the Messrs. Grant and Budge in the finals.

After which Bryan Grant and Budge will come to Atlanta for an exhibition on Sunday week.

Miss Dorothy Kirby, making her first start in the Florida winter tournaments, qualified yesterday. Grandpappy Beckett, who taught the young lady her very fine game, believes she will do well if she gets by the first round today.

LAID TO REST.

FRONT ROYAL, Va., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The body of Cadet William Jackson Eastham, V. M. I. boxer who was fatally injured in an intercollegiate bout Saturday, was interred in Prospect Hill cemetery here today within a hundred yards of the spot where Stonewall Jackson, V. M. I. professor and southern military hero, fired the shot that opened the battle of Front Royal in May, 1862.

AUSTRALIA WINS.

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Captain Don Bradman mastered England's attack in the fourth cricket test match today, scoring 178 not out, to put Australia on top at the end of the fourth day's play. When play closed the Antipodeans had compiled 341 runs for four wickets in their second innings for a lead of 290 runs. The home team ran up a first innings total of 288, the tourists replying with 330.

Fishback Will Meet B. Gillespie for Title

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Joe Fishback, No. 2 seeded player from Dewitt Clinton high school, today eliminated Don Buffington, Scarborough schoolboy from Atlanta, in the semi-final round of the Dewitt Clinton intercollegiate tennis tournament at the 369th infantry armory. The score was 6-1, 6-3.
Fishback will meet William Gillespie, another Atlanta boy attending Scarborough, for the championship Thursday afternoon.

Nation's Number One Tennis Rivals

Will Square Off Here Sunday Week

BILTMORE CLUB TO BE SCENE OF EXHIBITION

Atlantans Offered Chance To See Leading Cup Contenders Play.

By Jack Troy.

A tennis rivalry upon which the interest of the nation is centered will be renewed in Atlanta Sunday week at the Biltmore club, Peachtree and Fourth streets, according to information dispatched from Miami by Marion (Champ) Reese yesterday. Reese will promote the match, he says.

Donald Budge, the California Redhead, has agreed to come into Bryan Grant's backyard and let Atlanta fans see the nature of their battle for supremacy.

According to Reese, the match was arranged yesterday at the Surf Club, Miami Beach, where Budge and Grant are now engaged in wading through preliminary matches calculated to bring them together in the finals.

Already this year Grant has beaten Budge in two Florida tournaments. The tiny Bulldog of the Baselines walloped the California Redwood in a straight sets at the Miami Biltmore meet. The finals match at Tampa went five sets, with Grant winning the deciding set, 6-0.

It was the Tampa tournament that really started the nation talking. On successive days, and in five-set matches, Grant defeated Francis Parker, No. 2 ranking player, and Budge, the U. S. L. T. A.'s No. 1 star.

On successive week-ends he beat Budge twice and Parker once. And you could have knocked Grant supporters over with John D. Rockefeller's left jab when the U. S. L. T. A. figureheads declared they were delighted that Grant was going around shocking their peides.

They pointed to Grant's spirit as a great thing for the interests of the Davis cup team and expressed the hope Budge and Parker might benefit by it.

Well, Budge may but Parker won't. Parker apparently has had enough of Grant for the time being, for he has gone into seclusion at Bermuda.

At any rate, the Grant-Budge rivalry, at fever heat, may be witnessed here Sunday week.

Bitsy defeated Budge in five sets here last spring. He has lost to his chief rival only once on clay. That was in the two-set St. Petersburg exhibition not long ago.

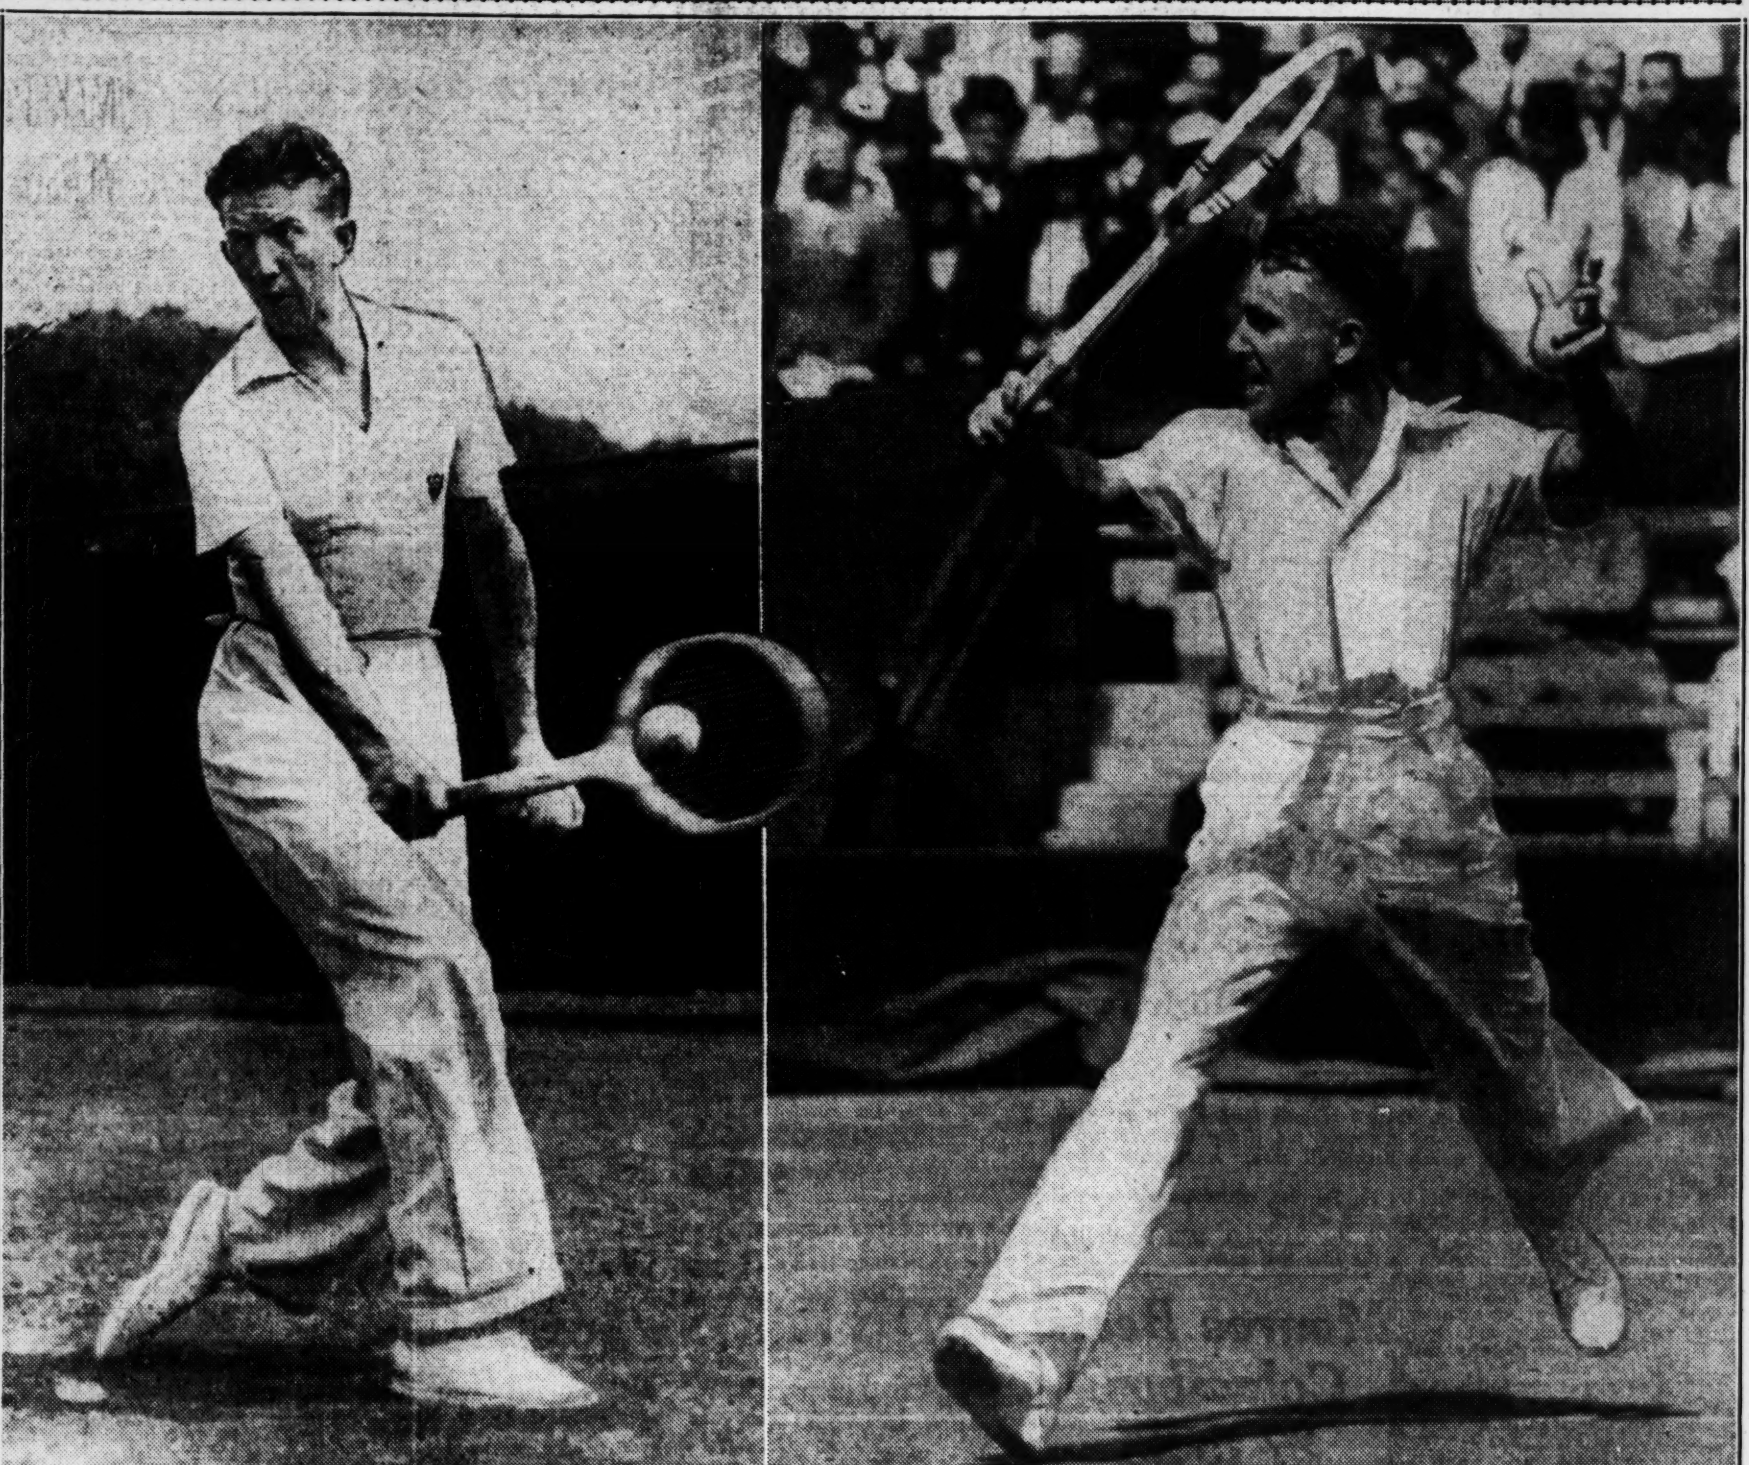

Grant has downed Budge both on clay and grass. Two years ago he knocked Budge out of the nationals at Forest Hills and then lost to Sidney Wood.

When you sort of recapitulate on what Grant has done in tennis, his worth grows even greater.

Instance, in international play he has beaten Heiner Henkel, the German; Vivian McGrath, the ambidextrous Australian; Bunay Austin, the bounding Englishman; Roderick Menzel, the bad Czech, and others. McGrath recently won the Australian title.

Mind you, Grant has done all this on grass. And it was no later than 1933 that Ellsworth Vines, defending champion at Forest Hills, got the shock of his life when Grant eliminated him in straight sets.

At one time or another, Grant has beaten every top-notch player he has met with the exception of Fred Perry, now turned pro. It's a record of which to be proud and also deserving recognition.

Associated Press Photos.

Donald Budge, the California red head, top-ranking American tennis player, and Bryan Grant, Atlanta, who was handed a rating of No. 3, will carry on their intense rivalry in an exhibition match here Sunday, February 14. The match was arranged yesterday by Marion Reese, who is attending the Surf Club tournament at Miami Beach. It will be played at the Biltmore Club, Peachtree and Fourth streets. Grant has beaten Budge twice in tournament play this year.

The only time Budge ever beat him on clay was in an exhibition recently at St. Petersburg. Grant downed Budge in five sets here last spring. They'll probably meet in the finals of the Surf Club tournament this week end.

JONES HAS 69 AT EAST LAKE

Bobby Fires a 32 on Back Nine, Three Under Par.

Bobby Jones continued his sub-par golf with a 69, one under par, Tuesday afternoon on the No. 1 course at East Lake. Jones teamed with E. A. Thornwell and defeated his father, Colonel R. P. Jones, and P. G. Hannah.

CAGE TOURNEY SET AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 2.—The annual high school basketball tournament will be held here March 4-5-6. Sponsored by the Georgia High School Association and the University of Georgia, the games will be played, as usual, in Woodruff Hall. Representation from each of the congressional districts is expected.

Participating heretofore have been groups B and C, and it is announced that probably there would be added this year group D, the group being based on the size of the school.

Teams taking part last year were, group B: Jonesboro, Hartwell, Avondale, Cordele, Albany, Brooklet, Roberta, Canton, the winner over Roberts, Dalton and Brunswick. Group C: Bogart, Avar, Doerun, Rhine, winner over Dacula in the finals, Stilson, Palmer Stone, Clarkston, Rome Model High and Dacula.

The athletic department of the university will have charge of running the tournament while the winners will be selected in a series of district tournaments held in the next six weeks.

Speer Will Offer Four Bouts Friday

Matchmaker Frank Speer last night announced his complete wrestling lineup for Friday night at the Atlanta theater—another four-bout program:

Clara Mortensen, of Glendale, Cal., and Mrs. Billy Wolfe, of St. Louis, will meet in a return match, a three-fall finish battle.

Roland Kirchmeyer, Oklahoma A. & M., will face George Hagen, of Atlantic City, in the 90-minute, three-fall feature.

One-fall, 30-minute limit matches will pit Milo Steinborn, Germany, against Marshall Blackstock, Chattanooga, and Hans Steink, New York, with Maria Westenberg, Houston, Texas.

Vines Can't See Grant As Davis Cup Player

Noted Pro, Who Lost to Bitsy in '33 Nationals, Has No Room to Talk.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines doesn't go for the "sentimental campaign" designed to give Bitsy Grant his long-sought Davis cup chance, even after the Atlanta Atom blasted front-ranked Don Budge in their first two meetings this year. . . . Says Ellie: "If I were naming the Davis cup squad in the order of their ability, they would line up like this—Don Budge, Gene Mako, Bobby Riggs, Joe Hunt, Frankie Parker, Bitsy Grant." That would leave Grant as cannon-fodder for his mates again. . . .

By Jack Troy.

Look who's talking about the Davis cup matches and what he would do if he were naming a team. . . . He wouldn't have Bryan Grant on a Christmas tree, or under one, either. (He had him once in such measures it has cured him for life.)

His selection would include Don Budge, Gene Mako, Bobby Riggs, Joe Hunt, Frankie Parker and then Grant. And what about Sidney W. O. d. Wilmer Allison, a couple of other fine fellows named Joe and So Blow and then Grant?

No, Ellsworth (Clinging) Vines can't see what he describes as the "sentimental campaign" designed to give Bitsy his long-sought Davis cup chance, regardless of how Grant is playing this winter.

The question is now that Ellie (Sour Grape) Vines has thrust out his chin, what basis can be offered for making a statement which smacks of such seeming authority?

What did Ellie (Tangled) Vines ever do for his country in Davis cup play, besides get beat? He probably remembers a Freshman named Jean Borotra.

And what did he do right after he got beat? Why, he helped his country by turning pro so he wouldn't have to play anymore.

GRANT HELPING.
Such loyalty should be stressed in times like these. Especially so, when Vines is going around telling people what he thinks of Bitsy Grant, who is still an amateur and is trying to help.

What is Vines doing but collecting money from the patrons to see him and Fred Perry play for the benefit of Vines and Fred Perry?

How does that help American tennis?

What Grant is doing does help money from the patrons to see him and Fred Perry play for the benefit of Vines and Fred Perry?

And who is Vines to speak of Bryan Grant, any way, when it was Grant who beat Vines, then the defending champion, in the 1933 national grass courts championship at Forest Hills?

How many times did Vines ever beat Grant? The answer is that they met twice and Grant beat him both times. Vines turned pro after that.

The scores of that match in the national tournament, by the way, were 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Vines didn't win a set.

Grant, Budge Meet Perry, Vines Today

SURFSIDE, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The nation's top-ranking amateur and professional tennis players, Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines, will meet tomorrow in a three-set exhibition, Surf Club officials announced tonight.

Since only members are to be admitted to the court, officials said the exhibition behind guarded walls of the exclusive Surf Club will not endanger the amateur standing of Budge and Grant.

The players themselves said the match would be "friendly." Perry laughingly said since Budge had served as linesman at the pro exhibition Sunday, "we're returning the favor."

Grant, Budge Win Easily In Fla.

SURFSIDE, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—A cold bothered Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant today as he and Donald Budge moved nearer another meeting in the invitation tennis tournament at the Surf Club.

The Atlanta mite was not extended to dispose of his third-round opponent, Richard W. Seabury, of Miami Beach, 6-1, 6-1, but expressed doubts of his reaching the final and an encounter with the top-ranking Californian he has defeated in two earlier tournaments this year.

Bitsy meets Ellwood Cooke, of Los Angeles, in the quarterfinals tomorrow. If he gets by, his semifinal opponent will be the victor in a match between Charles R. Harris, of Palm Beach, winner of the inaugural event last year, and Wayne Sabin, of Los Angeles.

Budge had a little harder battle from his third-round foe, Vernon Marcum, of Lakeland, Fla., 6-0, 6-4. The tussle was tougher than the scores indicate, four games going to deuce in the first set. In the second set Marcum broke through the redhead's service twice and held two of his own. Budge was in top form, however, and his backhand was especially effective.

J. P. C. DEFEATS UNION FIVE, 39-25

Progressives Score 30th Straight Victory Over Amateur Foes.

Hyman Katz and Steve Browdy led Jewish Progressive Club to a 39-25 victory over Union College, of Barbourville, Ky., Tuesday night on the South Pryor street court. It was the thirtieth straight amateur victory for the southern champions.

Katz scored 11 points, with the latter Browdy only one behind.

The entire team played fine defensive ball, and kept the Union scoring well divided.

The visitors exhibited a well-balanced team, but were unable to break through the J. P. C. defense consistently, and were forced to make most of their field goals from long range.

J. P. C. led at the half, 20-14.

AUBURN TO OPEN 6 WEEKS' DRILLS

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 2.—Sophomore hopefuls of Auburn's 1937 football squad have inaugurated six weeks of spring training, in charge of Head Coach Jack Meagher and the identical staff that assisted him last season. The 1936 varsity carryovers will report Thursday for spring training and also will be drilled six weeks.

Fourteen members of Auburn's varsity squad of last season having graduated, their collegiate careers, Chief Meagher will look to his present plebe crop for considerable help next fall. The students of Coach Ralph Jordan won both of their starts in 1936 and graduate several better-than-average graduates to the varsity ranks.

BEAT VANDY.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Western Kentucky Teachers of Bowling Green won their second basketball victory of the season tonight from Vanderbilt, running up a 35-to-15 decision in impressive fashion.

Tech Cagers Due To See Big Town

Coach Roy Mundorff has worked in a sight-seeing trip for his Tech basketball players when they go east to play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

The Jackets will leave here Thursday noon. They'll spend Friday and Friday night in New York, going to Philadelphia on Saturday morning.

Tech's opponents Saturday night are favorites to win the eastern intercollegiate league. They have lost only one game of the 11 played to date.

The Palestra, where the games are played, is one of the largest basketball gyms in the east. More than 10,000 spectators can be accommodated.

MRS. J. S. KENNEDY DIES AT HOME IN DECATUR

Wife of Atlanta Banker Succumbs Unexpectedly; Was Active Church Worker.

Mrs. J. Sherrard Kennedy, wife of a vice president of the First National Bank of Atlanta and long-time resident of Decatur, died yesterday morning at the residence, 341 South Chandler street, Decatur.

Mrs. Kennedy, who was 62, had been in ill health recently, but her death was unexpected. She was a prominent member of the First Presbyterian Church of Decatur.

Mrs. Kennedy was the former Miss Julia Pratt, the daughter of Nathaniel A. Pratt and Julia Stubbs Pratt. Besides her husband, surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. Frank Kelley Jr., of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Joseph Curtis Nunn; a son, J. Sherrard Kennedy Jr.; two brothers, N. P. Pratt and George L. Pratt; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Pratt, of Marietta, and a granddaughter, Miss Julia Pratt Bardwell.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

U. S. PRISONER IS GIVEN EXTRA TIME IN CUTTING

John Henry Maddox, confessed assassin of Archie Robinson, a fellow convict at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, yesterday learned he would have to serve 15 months additional time. He entered a plea of guilty before Federal Judge C. B. Kennamer in United States district court.

Maddox and Robinson are said to have engaged in an argument in the kitchen of the penitentiary. When the battle continued after they went to their cells, Maddox secured a knife hidden in his cell and slashed Robinson, officers said. He is now serving a sentence of a year and a day, which expires this month.

THREE ARE INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Running to catch a street car, two negroes were slightly injured early last night when they were struck by an automobile on West Peachtree street at Fifth street.

The victims, James H. Corbin, of 1050 Welch street, S. W., whose left leg was broken, and Eloise Davison, of 328 Ellis street, who suffered a broken right wrist, were treated at Grady hospital. Police reports listed W. J. Warren, of 21 Twelfth street, as driver of the car.

Robert Everhart, 50, of 440 Capital avenue, suffered head injuries and shock last night when he was struck down by an automobile driven by J. C. Presley, of Route No. 2, Decatur. The accident occurred on Fair street at Martin. Everhart was admitted to Grady hospital.

PLANS FOR MANEUVERS.

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Thirty airplanes from Barksdale field, Shreveport, La., reached Self ridge field today for the army air corps' winter maneuvers. Nine Martin bombers that were expected today remained grounded at Mitchel field, Long Island.

Stoddard Becomes Brigadier General

Adjutant General Jack E. Stoddard yesterday became a brigadier general in the national guard of the United States. The honor came to the Georgian when Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring announced that General Stoddard had passed all of the physical and mental requirements for the post.

President Roosevelt is expected to have General Stoddard's appointment confirmed before congress adjourns.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adierka. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."

—Mrs. J. J. Miller.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. R. L. Shuck, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka quickly reduces bacteria and calms heart. Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves gas and constipation. At all leading drug stores." (adv.)

Bride Is Trampled By Drinking Guests

WARASDIN, Yugoslavia, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Joska Miron, a 28-year-old bride, was trampled upon and seriously injured tonight during a free-for-all fight at her wedding. A guest was killed, five were wounded.

Police said the wedding "became disorganized" after large quantities of wine and brandy had been consumed.

CAIRO IS THREATENED BY MOUNTING FLOODS

best estimates, and had driven nearly 1,000,000 people from their homes. The damage still stood in the countless millions.

Emergency Proclaimed.

President Roosevelt, in recognition of a catastrophe which Red Cross officials said had more people homeless than any in American history, proclaimed an "emergency" to permit duty free importation of foreign relief donations.

The United States Geological Survey said the flow from the Ohio river, when the crest is reached at Cairo, probably today or tomorrow, would be 31 per cent greater than ever before—2,100,000 cubic feet per second.

General Malin Craig, the army chief of staff, who has mobilized the most far-reaching military plan of evacuation and aid, or put to work in peacetime in America, said he had a feeling of "conservative optimism" about flood conditions.

Every Foot Watched.

As far south as Natchez, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La., the Mississippi was above flood stage—but still as men watched every foot of its thousand-mile length the main line levee system everywhere held firm, despite reports of dike blasting on tributaries in the state of Mississippi.

Complicating matters on the lower Mississippi was the fact that engineers reported the tributary St. Francis river basin was flooded to about the level of 1927, year of a great flood.

Fair weather for flood areas again was forecast.

People in the flood valleys must live for at least a month or six weeks on "emergency basis," said Harry L. Hopkins, chairman of the President's relief commission.

Cairo Gains Edge.

While Cairo seemed to have fought the Ohio to a standstill, engineers temporarily turned their attention to the Mississippi on another side of the city. They said they were not alarmed, but they piled up levees with sand-bags.

Paducah, Ky., a city of 30,000 given over temporarily to the Ohio flood, had a $75,000 fire during yesterday, and tried to fight it with equipment floating on barges. Only a few persons remained in the whole city, and they were there to guard against looting. Paducah was under quarantine, as was part of Louisville.

With the flood waters receding slowly at Louisville, Mayor Neville Miller urged the people of Louisville "to have patience" and not all try to return to their homes immediately.

The latest death list announced yesterday was 221.

The mayor said the emergency situation had passed.

In New Orleans Mayor Robert S. Maestri issued a statement in which he declared that New Orleans was safe from floods and said the Mardi Gras carnival, opening this week, would be turned into a "multiple festival of thanksgiving."

MAYOR SEEKS MEANS TO CONTINUE RELIEF

000 crippled, sick and aged persons on its relief rolls, whose source of sustenance is threatened if the relief problem is not at least partially solved by February 15.

At a meeting of the welfare board yesterday morning, called by Chairman J. Sid Tiller, the members adjourned before taking action on a motion by George L. Simons, board member, that the board resign effective February 15 unless funds are provided for its operation before that time.

Tiller called another special meeting for 11:30 o'clock Friday morning to receive the report of Mayor Hartsfield on the results of his efforts to release the city's $25,000.

Hugh Couch, member of the board since its inception, tendered his resignation yesterday also, but it was not accepted by the welfare board.

He proposed that the mayor and the chairman of the county commissioners, J. A. Ragsdale, petition the state legislature for aid in caring for the thousands of unemployable persons who must be fed and housed during the winter.

No Action Taken.

Hartsfield asked the welfare board to petition the aid in its own name since it is incorporated by the state legislature, but no action was taken on the proposal.

Commissioner Longino said "we should get together with Aldermen Bridges and Carpenter and show them the necessity for continuing relief administration under the welfare board, for the present at least."

He and Chairman Ragsdale praised the efficiency of the board, pointing out that its 8 per cent overhead cost was reasonable, and also praised the work of Director Miller. Both defended the salary paid Miller, saying $475 per month is not excessive for the work he does.

Miller stated in reply to attacks on the department's operation, that 47 of the department's 117 workers are paid by the WPA. There do exist investigating for the department. Sixty-two clerical workers are employed because of the detailed reports which have to be handled and filed on all cases, even those persons who are refused relief. These include also persons who are eligible for WPA work, and CCC and NYA applicants.

Law Salaries.

The average salary paid the employees is $82.60 per month, he said, while only two persons in the department receive pay of more than $200 per month. Miller is one. The first three highest salaries are $475, $208 (to an administrative official) and $175 a month to the auditor.

W. E. Mitchell, board member, said the department wishes to carry on for 60 days for two reasons. In order to do so, it must have $25,000 from the city for February. The county will match the city's donations.

"By continuing two months, we can see what the legislature will do for the relief situation in Fulton county," Mitchell asserted. "Also, if we are forced to stop or curtail relief further, it will be two months nearer summer when the warm weather will prevent mass suffering among these poor people if their relief is stopped."

Hartsfield pointed out to the welfare board that it is possible the aldermanic action in killing the council allocation for relief may be nullified at the next regular meeting of the general council.

When the aldermanic board fails to concur in an action of council, the matter can be brought up again at the next regular meeting and a committee of aldermen and councilmen appointed to study the paper. Then, if the committee recommends its passage, the paper can again be brought before general council and voted upon by it.

However, this procedure could not be begun until February 15, the date the welfare department must cease operation in order to avoid going into debt.

Mayor Hartsfield called a special session of council and a new resolution to give the department of welfare $25,000 is approved by both council and the aldermanic board but is held up by Bridges or Carpenter for two weeks, the welfare board may consent to continue operating on county money for a short time to await the final development, it was said.

Welfare board members said they would welcome any searching investigation of the department.

Criticism Resented.

"I resent these criticisms because persons making them have not investigated the department and do not know what they are talking about," Mitchell said. "We operate with less than 10 per cent overhead cost, and we are sustaining life in these unemployables with an average of $4.70 per month."

"You or I could not live on that amount. Administration costs have been drastically reduced and every cent that can be given the unemployables is distributed to them," he said.

"Relief for Deserving."

Mitchell pointed out that case investigation is absolutely necessary. Several years ago, before the present department was set up, many undeserving persons received relief. "Now we know that those who are getting relief actually deserve it," he declared.

Simons' motion to resign in a body is to be voted on Friday, since it was before the board when adjournment was called.

Tiller told the mayor that "much of our present trouble was caused by the fact the board has refused to inject politics" in the administration of relief.

Longino said the county has the authority to donate about $175,000 per year to relief and that "all we give more than that sum is tinged with illegality."

Hartsfield pointed out that the city's method of refunding bonds for relief appropriations, as has been done in the past, was illegal also but was done in the stress of emergency.

Ladies! again we present--

Miss Ruth Chambers

COOKERY EXPERT OF THE NATIONAL LIVE STOCK AND MEAT BOARD AS THE DIRECTOR OF—

THE CONSTITUTION'S Annual

FOODS OF THE NATION COOKING SCHOOL

We know you have wanted to see and meet and hear her again. No doubt you have read and profited by her practical entertaining articles on food preparation and meal planning, which appear daily in The Constitution... You'll again hear her explain in her clear, understandable way, the "whys and wherefores" of scores of delicious recipes. Each of these recipes was chosen because she felt it was one you would especially enjoy using. After you see her demonstrations you will be able to duplicate the dishes in your own kitchen. You may have confidence in the results, too, for each recipe was tested over and over in the lecturer's own laboratory kitchen before being awarded a place on the program... And here is good news, too: At every session of the school an attractive recipe folder will be given each woman attending, this to contain the printed directions for all dishes prepared that day!

Admission Free!

MEAT COOKERY TO BE FEATURED

Because of its importance in the daily diet—because most menus are planned around the meat dish—Meat Cookery will be featured in FOODS OF THE NATION Cooking School. You will not only learn new ways of preparing, cooking, and garnishing the better-known cuts of meats—but you will be told of the lesser-known cuts. In a clear, understandable way, you will be told how to select these cuts—how to prepare them—how to add a new and interesting variety to your daily menu, without adding to your food budget.

4 GALA SESSIONS, ALL DIFFERENT

In the course of the four big sessions, you will see more than three score wonderful, practical recipes prepared on the Cooking School stage. Besides the meat course, you will learn the secrets of salads, tricks with cakes and pies, new desserts; you will find special attention given to making your dishes look beautiful and appetizing as they come to the table. And, remember, you will receive each day, a printed recipe sheet which will give you directions for making each of these dishes at home. This will be the only way you can secure these recipes—so be sure to attend—every session!

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

YOUR BEAUTY EXERCISE PROGRAM.

Spot exercises bring symmetry. If your hips are lopsided and your waistline deviated from its girlish design, it's your duty to beauty to exercise.

After twenty-nine, every woman needs a beauty program of exercise. Whenever you see a woman of indeterminate age with a gorgeous figure—take my word for it, she exercises. Laziness lets muscles grow flabby and fat cells gather, and you can't keep young and supple without exercise.

Here is a daily dozen to keep your figure in trim—don't do them by halves!

Stretch!
(For arms, chest and shoulders.)
Position: Standing erect, feet together; arms stretched overhead, width of shoulders apart.
Movement: Reach up as high as possible, fingers of each hand together. Now, force both arms back behind the ears, all the time stretching upward. Keep your head erect. Stretch again, and repeat six times. This exercise reaches all the trunk bulges.

To Arms.
(For arms, chest and shoulders.)
Position: Standing erect, feet apart, arms held straight out to sides, level with shoulders.
Movement: Without bending elbows or lowering arms, swing arms touching hands together in front and back. Repeat ten times, later twenty, and on up to forty.

For a Drifting Waistline.
Position: Standing on knees, knees wide apart, arms held straight out to sides.
Movement: Keep back straight and hips perfectly still. Bending only at the waist, touch the fingers to the out touching toes to floor. Perform with left leg.

(For derriere and hip-thigh bulge.)
Position: Lying on back on floor, legs and arms extended on floor, hands clasped and toes pointed.
Movement: Roll over on one hip, roll back to side of other hip. Twenty rolls in all will be enough for a beginner. The difficulty of this exercise may be increased by keeping the feet slightly off the floor to strengthen the abdominal muscles.

If you do this half dozen daily, your figure can't grow old!

BREAKFAST
Orange juice, 1-2 glass 50
Toast, 2 thin slices 100
Butter, 1-2 pat 50
Coffee, clear

LUNCHEON
Tomato juice, cocktail, 4oz. 25

LOUISVILLE RESIDENT ESTIMATES 2,000 DEAD

Experiences in Flooded City Told in Letter Addressed to Parents Here.

An estimate of deaths well over the thousand mark in Louisville, made here yesterday by the Rev. Ira B. McClung, a Louisville pastor, yesterday was substantiated in a letter received by A. G. Pratt, head of the federal estate tax division in Georgia, from his son, Preston P. Pratt, of Louisville, an employee of the Ford Motor Company branch there.

In his letter, the first received by his parents, Mr. Pratt and Dr. Louise A. Pratt, since the high water invaded the city, Pratt said "so far there have been only two drowned and 108 deaths from exposure. However, in my opinion, they will find many in their homes, especially in western Louisville out by the plant, where the water was 30 feet deep. I may be entirely wrong, but I estimate a loss of life here around 2,000 when all is known. Many people would not leave their homes when help was offered. . . . Many could not leave when at last they were on the second or third floor."

Pratt's home in Louisville was above the flood level, although water came to the corner of the street on which they live.

The Louisville man, who was formerly employed by the Ford Company here, praised the work of the Red Cross highly, saying "things are getting better hourly and with the help of the government, Red Cross and other agencies the city will clean up rapidly, just as fast as the streets clear. They are all ready for the big job. The Red Cross has certainly been on the job and later you will hear more about them. You can call your local Red Cross and tell them from one who knows, that their work here has saved thousands already and that with their organized methods, every penny is used to advantage."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: What do you think of the manners of a stenographer who calls her employer by his first name? It seems to me that they are evidence of a familiarity that breeds contempt! It nauseates me to hear a young upstart call to my husband and say, "Here, John somebody wants to do it on the telephone." I am quite certain the men don't like it but that false timidity or pride restrains them from calling the young upstarts down. Do you agree with me?

Answer: I quite agree with you that familiarity between a business man and his stenographer is in questionable taste but I don't agree with you that a man would hesitate to rebuke a girl for calling him by his first name if it offended his sense of dignity. A girl doesn't take such a liberty with an employer in the first place unless she's been invited to do it and she should be rebuked if it isn't agreeable to him.

We all put appraisals upon ourselves which others accept at face value. Haven't you noticed there are some men that everyone calls by the first name and others that are "Mister" to everybody but their wives and children. This isn't an accident. The informal, friendly, hail-fellow, well-met man enjoys the distinction of being "John" to everybody. While the formal and dignified man, by his very manner, defies anybody to get fresh with him even to the extent of omitting the handle to his name. There's a happy medium between the two which most women would like their husbands to strike.

It is an interesting fact that nine women out of ten (at least mature ones) put dignity high up on the "required list" of masculine virtues and attractions. Maybe they can't tell you why. I believe I can. A wife doesn't mind seeing the other woman's husband making a monkey of himself but she wants her own husband to stand up straight and invite respect, particularly from other women. If other women make free with him the implications are disturbing and irritating. According to a well-known feminine trait she gets furious with the aggressors, but deep in her heart she knows that her husband has invited the familiarities. This feeling she has about masculine dignity is a sort of self-protective instinct and though the learned psychologists say there are only three instincts, we women know the sky is our limit and where husbands are concerned most of them can be trusted.

Dear Miss Chatfield: If you will answer this question, many bothered girls will thank you. What pleasure does a boy get out of kissing a girl he doesn't love? Many of the boys that kiss me tenderly never take me places or show me things. I have asked them to explain but they can't do it. TEENIE.

Answer: I think I can answer your question and explain your predicament. It is the nature of the brute for the boy to get pleasure out of kissing the girl. It is merely sex attraction and has nothing to do with love. These boys don't take you places or show you things because you kiss one tonight, and he tells and so on until they all know you as a kissing bug. They aren't proud to be seen with you. You have made yourself cheap and they take you at the price you set.

In all kindness, dear child, there is something wrong with your manner when every Tom, Dick and Harry suggests a kiss. There is something wrong with your thinking when you succumb to these suggestions. The boys won't explain the mystery to you because they have too much respect for your feelings to tell you the blunt truth and it would queer their game to boot. Declare a moratorium on kisses and give time to let the boys get noised abroad that you have come to your senses.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Jeanne Madden.)

Here Is an Exercise for Women Who Have Fat Arms

By MIGNON.
(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

Women are always anxious to improve their looks, but it is very difficult to look lovely when they want to wear evening clothes and have fat, unlovely arms. Hands are thrown up in horror if a blemish appears on the face. But hips may bulge, upper arms become flabby or padded with fat until they appear entirely out of proportion before anything is done about it.

When you see an individual with a well-developed and well-proportioned body, don't be guilty of saying the same old thing that I have so often heard: "Such a figure wasn't meant for me, so I might just as well give up." Here lies the difficulty—women like this stop trying too soon. It took time for the fat to accumulate and it will take time and constant effort to lose it.

As you grow older the upper arms tend to pad with surplus fat and appear massive and bulky. This is especially noticeable when a sleeveless dress is worn.

Here is an exercise that is most beneficial for this "arm complaint."

Standing erect, bend the arms until the hands are at the shoulders and the elbows are down at the sides. Clench the fists, and now with all arm muscles tensed push the hands up as if pushing up a heavy weight.

After pushing up in this tensed position for approximately two-thirds of the arms' length, finish the upward motion with a brisk snap as if the weight had suddenly been released. Bring the arms down to starting position as if pulling down the heavy weight and finish with the same fast movement. Now do the same thing by pushing the arms forward and back, then sideways and back. Repeat the entire exercise ten times or more. Be sure to hold the head erect and keep chin up.

Remember it is impossible to exercise one part of the body without bringing some beneficial results to other parts as well.

For softening and whitening the arms use a cream I'll tell you about if you are interested, and you will have marvelous results.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column phone Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

1037 officers, it was said by Superintendent J. B. Franklin. Dr. Earl Floyd was president of the staff in 1936. Only a few changes were made in the 200 staff doctors.

Dr. M. T. MacEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons, spoke at the board meeting, praising the Grady system of appointing staff members annually.

Contract Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

RAISES.

(Copyright, 1937, by Ely Culbertson.)

Whether full or shaded, every raise requires adequate trump support: Q x or any four trumps.

The number of winners in the hand is determined by counting the values in honors, long suits, and short suits. For those who find it easier to look only for the honor tricks and short suits the following case method may be used.

Raise once with adequate trump support and one honor trick with a singleton, one and one-half honor tricks with a doubleton, two honor tricks if 4-3-3-3.

Give a shaded raise with adequate trump support and a singleton, even without an honor trick, or with one-half an honor trick and a doubleton, one honor trick if 4-3-3-3. (Sometimes one no-trump should be preferred if holding only three trumps.)

The following hands are minimum shaded raises of partner's opening spade bid, only if the intervening player has passed:

Q 3 2 ♥ 8 10 6 5 3 ♠ 9 7 5 2
A 8 5 3 ♠ 6 2 ♣ 8 5 4 ♠ 8 5 3

The bidding:

West correctly chose to open the spade queen. Declarer won the first trick, and played the ace and another heart with the hope of finding an adverse 3-3 split. West's failure to follow to the second round scotched this plan, and made the passing of the heart futile. Dummy's king was played, and now dummy played a diamond.

Arbitrarily selected East as the holder of the club queen, and led to dummy's king. The jack was returned and, to declarer's horror, East showed out. From that point the contract was a lost cause, for there was no way to snaffle the ninth trick.

Only reasonably good play was required on this hand in order to "sail in." Declarer could well have afforded to concede a few losers at the outset. Had he done so, a count of the defenders' hands would have emerged automatically. Obviously, if declarer had ducked to the first trick, the jack would be continued, and now the ace would win. Now, either a diamond or a heart should be conceded. Let us assume the former. A low diamond is led. West plays the nine, and East overtakes with the 10, continuing the suit. Declarer wins. West showing out, and now cashes the ace and king of hearts. West's failure to follow to the second heart establishes him for having held two aces, and now, when declarer cashes his other spade trick, East's failure to follow marks West with an original holding of five spades, and thus he must have held six clubs. Unless the queen drops from East's hand on the lead of the ace, the finesse against West is established. Certainly this is a better plan than guessing!

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: Dealer opened the bidding one club. What should second hand bid with the following?

My Story

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Monday.—The sky looks as though it had cleared for good and all, but I really do not feel I have any cause for complaint, for in the last three weeks, in spite of uncertain weather, I got in three good rides.

When we come in from riding, the groom always has two lumps of sugar ready for my horse, Dot. First of all, she shakes hands with me, giving me each front leg, and then she follows me, looking for the second lump of sugar in my hand. Now we have a trick before she actually gets it. She has to put her nose up to my face and give me a kiss.

As we went through this ceremony the other morning, a young woman got out of her car with a most beautiful Great Dane dog, and watched us with amusement. I was very much interested in her dog, for my son Elliott and his wife breed Great Danes on their ranch in Texas.

They are such big creatures, but so dignified and gentle. The oldest one of their dogs let the babies roll over him and tease him to their hearts' content. I have watched him when he could hear no longer, get up with solemnity and walk off to a far corner, but he never growls or shows any kind of ill temper. It has made little Ruth Chandler entirely fearless with dogs, which is a good thing, though I am not so sure that all dogs can be trusted to quite the same extent.

It poured all day yesterday, and I stayed indoors until the afternoon, when I had promised to visit International House at 4 o'clock. I was much interested in seeing this house, which was given by a very generous woman last year and which seems to be doing a marvelous piece of work for the foreign students in Washington. Young people from foreign lands attending a university or studying some phases of life in the United States can find a welcome and make friends in this hospitable house.

From there, Miss Cook and I went over to a meeting at the Friends church held by the American Legion Auxiliary for their Fidae essay contest. After meeting those present, they pinned the society's pin on me, and during tea Mrs. Libby sang two of Milne's songs.

After dinner last night, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred L. Husband showed some of their very interesting colored films of Sweden. The first ones were devoted to giving one an idea of the countryside and the people with their very colorful and interesting costumes. Then they showed us various cooperative houses and some of the workmen.

Of course, Sweden is a small country with a homogeneous population, but that does not prevent one from looking with envy at the living conditions which they have achieved for their workers whose incomes compare with our low income group.

Another thing which stands out is the love of color and of flowers. In every apartment or house there were flowers on the balconies, and the grounds about the houses had growing flowers and shrubs everywhere.

I am glad I saw these pictures, for it gave me a feeling of having seen something already established, to encourage us who are just feeling our way in an effort to achieve a better standard of living.

Interesting Georgia Personalities VIA THE ZODIAC

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

M. D. COLLINS.
July 31st marks the natal day of M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools. This brings his birthdate under the influence of the Zodiacal sign of Cancer. Cancer is the third sign of love, home, conservatism, tenacity, dignity, and gives the ability to accomplish whatever he set out to do.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Atlanta Constitution, as compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best known astrologers. Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future, or to solve personal problems. She gives you a complete and accurate rendition of the position of the sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully working out according to the strict rules of astrology.

All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with ten cents in coin to cover mailing cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal astrologically with the Sun at the time of your birth, called the Sun-chart, and with the Sun-chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which will be published in The Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, according to the rules of astrology. When you receive each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Below are planetary indications, according to the rules of astrology, one which may apply to your forecast. Every day these interesting interpretations will be published, descriptive of the influence of the planets at the time of your birth. Your astrological forecast includes a Sun-chart and planetary interpretations, designated by numbers on your Sun-chart. Watch carefully day by day for your numbers.

NUMBER 807—In selecting your mate you should be a person of intelligence rather than merely physical attraction. You like people who are calm and well balanced. You are not inclined to make many promises, but carry out those you do make. Your enemies need cause you no concern, as the likelihood is that you will always outwit them. You need not fear monotony, as there will always be plenty of excitement in your life.

NUMBER 402—You are an excellent judge of human nature, and display a keenness of mind in the face of danger. You like speculation and at times are fortunate along these lines, but your radicalism, and these periods are only temporary, and bring you no real benefit. You are a person who would be in government bonds and real estate, carefully selected. You will be tempted to go to extremes, but avoid them at all costs.

NUMBER 303—You have a highly intelligent mind, but are likely to change your mind at a woman's notice. Your first love is a man who gives you a lot of pleasure. You are a person who has many latent abilities. Take stock of yourself, decide on your best talent, develop it, and you will be a successful and happy life. Now the time has come to avoid overconfidence and overexpenditure.

NUMBER 606—Practice regular habits of daily hygiene and your health will improve. You are clear in planning short cuts and economizing time. While others are puzzling over these problems, you are able to come to a conclusion.

JUSTICES BILL APPROVED.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(P)—The house judiciary committee approved today a bill to permit United States supreme court justices to retire at 70 on full pay. Under the present law, a member of the court must resign to be relieved of his duties. They usually have been given compensation for retirement.

Junior Catholic Clubs To Hold Convention in Atlanta on Sunday

Alton Baumgartner, chairman of the federation committee of the Young People's Catholic Club of the Immaculate Conception church, announces the program for the quarterly convention of the Georgia Federation of Junior Catholic Clubs, which is to be held in Atlanta on Sunday.

A dance at Habersham hall has been planned for the entertainment of the delegates arriving Saturday. Several novel features have been arranged for the affair. Registration will begin Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the club room at the Immaculate Conception church. Rev. Father Joseph Smith, pastor, will officiate at a low mass at 11:15, with Rev. Father Joseph E. Moylan, pastor of the Christ the King church, delivering the sermon. Registration will continue after the mass and this will be followed by the executive meeting in the rectory of the church.

Nick Camerillo, president of the federation, will preside at the dinner which will be held at the Georgian Terrace hotel. The principal speaker will be Lewis Gordon, prominent Catholic layman. The Knights of Columbus hall, 1200 Peachtree street, will be the site of the afternoon entertainment. A buffet supper will be served in the club room at the church and the final event will be the general assembly, held afterwards.

Mr. Baumgartner was assisted in formulating these plans by Miss Inez Fornara and Bob Hackman. Other committees appointed by the federation committee are: Registration; Eloise Clark, chairman; Catherine Warren, Idelle Jambay, Leona Van Mansfield, Alex Phillips, Marie Bart and Ella Mae Denson; reception; Aldo Geroni, chairman; Gus Epler, Rose Riordan, David Eberhart, Evelyn Dyer, Wilhelmina Epler and Mary Frances Harrington; ushers; Bill Edwards, John Denson and Bob Hackman. The altar boys for the mass will be Thomas Clark, Robert Johnson and Frank Baumgartner. Mrs. Henry McLaughlin is chairman of the supper committee, and she will be assisted by the ladies of the Altar Society. Officers of the federation are Nick Camerillo, Macon, president; Rosa Johnson, Atlanta, vice president; P. J. Murphy, Macon, secretary; and Mitchell Thomas, of Douglas, treasurer.

Three hundred representative young men and women from the following clubs will attend: The Aquinas Club, of Albany; the Peterkin Club, of La Grange and Newnan; the Georgian Club, of Douglas; the Junior Catholic Club, of Columbus; the St. Anthony Club, of St. Anthony's church, Atlanta; the Shamrock Club, of Macon; the Blessed Chancel Club, of the Sacred Heart church, Atlanta; and the Young People's Catholic Club, of the Immaculate Conception church, Atlanta. Members of the newly-formed Catholic Club of Savannah, are to attend. Saint Mary's church, of Rome, is expected to be represented also.

Officers of the local club at the Immaculate Conception church are: Dr. Stephen Gernazian, president; Rosa Johnson, vice president; Eloise Clark, secretary; and Aldo Geroni, treasurer.

Bill Hopkins, editor of the Herald, monthly bulletin of the club, will publish a special edition for the convention. The regular Federation News, published by the Blessed Chancel Club, and edited by Louis Malouf, will also be distributed February 7.

Advisers Honored.

Girl Reserve advisers will be entertained at supper this evening at the Y. W. C. A., 37 Auburn avenue, with Girl Reserve committee members serving as hostesses. Mrs. Alice Bannan, of Druid Hills High school, presides at an informal discussion group held at 5:30 o'clock, when Mrs. Robert B. Church Jr. speaks on "Adviser Responsibility." This group, composed of 30 volunteer leaders, includes young married women, Agnes Scott students, teachers who guide and direct the adolescent program.

Miss Anne Pridmore invites Girl Reserves interested in learning tap and social dancing to come to the Y Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when Miss Hilda Gumm will teach. Girls should register promptly, as only a limited number can be accommodated.

Hanna-Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Melville Hanna, of Atlanta, announce the marriage of their daughter, Peggy, to C. Edgar Bowen, of Atlanta. The ceremony took place in the presence of a few intimate friends on Thursday evening, January 21.

Friendly Ten Club.

Mrs. James Garst and Mrs. W. M. Pharr will entertain members of the Friendly Ten Club at a luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Pharr in Morningside. After the luncheon a business meeting will be held.

To Sponsor Luncheon.

North Atlanta Rainbow Assembly No. 10 will sponsor a luncheon at Sterchi's, on February 9, from 11:30 to 2 o'clock. Tickets can be secured at the door. The public is invited.

How To Make Him Propose

By ROBERT DONAT

ROBERT DONAT

The experience of romance is just as much the inherent right of everyone as the air we breathe! Romance for a man usually spells the difference between a successful and a failed life—a success inspired by the incentive to justify the hope and faith of the woman he loves.

For a woman it is that which makes for a truly balanced existence—a life which can be said to fulfill its destiny. What brings romance into the life of a woman? The glamor of physical beauty, little to do with it. Her charm and personality do much more to attract it. Vivacity, a sense of humor, and a bubbling enthusiasm are the livable qualities which do much to attract it. He wants life, sparkle, vitality, and is drawn to those who have it. A friendly and gay woman is a loved woman, at least I have found it so.

What can prevent a woman from finding romance? Nothing—except herself. Has she a quick temper? Let her free herself from its clutches if she would find love. Is she sarcastic? Is she dictatorial, nagging and demanding, or has she that greatest of defects of feminine character—a chronic whine?

Let her study herself and she will quickly find out where her difficulties lie. She can easily correct them, if she desires romance earnestly enough. There isn't a woman, no matter what her deficiencies in appearance may be, who hasn't within herself some asset which she can use as the springboard from which to develop a personality that will make her attractive to men.

Everyone's conception of charm is different. What appeals to one man has no effect on another. No two will ever agree. If romance has passed you by, put yourself through an unbiased and searching analysis. Find charm in yourself and cultivate it to the utmost. Before you know it, romance will search you out, and place in your hands that rich gift for which you have been searching.

Talmadge Sales to Road Board May Be Subject of Investigation

Helen Douglas Mankin Author of House Resolution Seeking Data on Transactions of Former State Officials.

The state house of representatives will have before it for final vote today a resolution seeking an examination of Highway Department transactions with state officials or their relatives during the term of former Governor Talmadge.

One of the two women members, Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, of Fulton county, submitted the resolution yesterday calling for information on department dealings with a bank "in which the former chairman was interested," and "what, if any, merchandise or products were sold either by the Governor, his wife or relatives, or any official, their wives or relatives" to the department.

The resolution set forth its purpose as putting at rest "rumors being circulated" concerning such transactions. Mrs. Mankin said off the floor that such transactions, if they existed, would not constitute violations of the law, but added:

"It is interesting to know what profits might have been made from such transactions. I am just after some general information."

Her resolution, coming just before the house started prolonged debate on the administration's highway patrol bill, went on the table for one day under house rules. It would have E. P. Van Storey, secretary-treasurer of the Highway Department, furnish the house with the information.

W. E. Willburn, former chairman of the highway board, is interested in a bank at Georgetown, Ga. Another measure is pending for a legislative committee to investigate all branches of the state government during the Talmadge tenure.

While the house spent most of the day working on the highway patrol bill, it established precedence for a number of social security bills. Those include a social security tax amendment to the constitution, a special election for voting on it, and the actual terms on which old-age pensions, child aid and assistance to the needy blind will be paid.

They are in line for first consideration at tomorrow's session. Governor Rivers started funds trickling from the treasury after signing the half-year emergency appropriations bill, but continued his study of departmental budgets before beginning a wholesale distribution of money for the various governmental agencies.

Special fees to solicitors general, county fuel oil tax distribution for the last quarter of 1936, and Confederate pensions received first attention in the

RED CROSS FUND HERE $16,000 OVER QUOTA

Drive To Continue as Need for More Flood Relief Cash Mounts.

Atlanta's Red Cross flood relief fund mounted yesterday to $116,523.58 at 5 o'clock, more than $16,000 higher than the original quota. The original quota, however, was based on an estimate of $10,000,000 necessary from the nation for relief work in the flooded Mississippi and Ohio valleys. This estimate has now been raised to between $17,000,000 and $20,000,000 by national Red Cross officials, according to the local chapter stressed the necessity for continued contributions to aid in securing the needed funds.

"While no further quota will be assigned Atlanta," P. C. McDuffie, general chairman of the local campaign said yesterday, "the campaign will be continued until every man and woman, every business firm and executive has been given the opportunity to enroll or contribute."

Atlanta's Red Cross was cautioned against giving of contributions to solicitors on the streets, at homes or at offices, except to accredited Red Cross representatives who are provided with credentials and are prepared to furnish Red Cross buttons and cards. This warning was issued following reports that unauthorized persons in Atlanta had been soliciting flood relief funds.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph employees yesterday sent their total contributions to $1,797.35, by a further donation of $733.15. Persons desiring to contribute may do so by bringing or mailing their donations to Red Cross headquarters at 86 1-2 Luckie street. In event a person cannot go to the headquarters, or mail in contributions, a representative of the Red Cross will collect the money, McDuffie said. The telephone number is Walnut 3201.

CHARLES M. PEEK DIES AT RESIDENCE

Veteran Railroad Engineer and Active Mason Succumbs in 47th Year.

Charles M. Peek, veteran engineer for the Southern Railway system and well known in Masonic circles, died Monday at the residence, 1153 Virginia avenue, N. E.

Mr. Peek, who was 46, was born and raised in Atlanta. He had been with the railroad for more than 30 years. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Mechanics, No. 1153, and of the Sardin Lodge, F. & A. M.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. H. G. Mann, Mrs. D. A. Coursey and Miss Carolyn Peek; a son, Charles M. Peek Jr.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Peek; three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Mae Peek, Mrs. G. Christiansen and Mrs. L. R. Johnson; and two brothers, H. R. Peek, of Mexico, Miss., and Arthur H. Peek, of Wichita, Kan.

Final rites will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Spring Hill, with the Rev. W. M. Barnett officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

The legislature set up a special fund for each institution, but the bill leaves to the board the distribution of a lump-sum appropriation. A bill by Senator Lindsay in the senate to permit special appropriations prior to enactment of the regular biennial budget bill had as its purpose speed in disposition of a $210,000 special allocation proposed for the state hospital at Milledgeville to meet post-acute salaries, food and clothing bills.

The house ways and means committee set machinery in motion for rounding a batch of tax bills into shape for presentation to the house. Chairman Freeman, of Bibb county, named a subcommittee of 15 to take all bills under study for a report back to the full group.

He estimated the bills will not reach the house for about two weeks. The Simmons gross income tax law, previously referred to a three-man subcommittee some members regarded as a "graveyard" was recalled for submission to the larger subcommittee.

The senate acted on a number of bills in clearing everything from its hopper in position for action. The only major measure pending is the department of public health reorganization measure to set up old-age pension administration machinery. It has a "special and continuing" status starting tomorrow.

The upper house killed a proposal to call a closed session on pole-and-line fishing after one of its lengthiest debates of the session.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 39

Tarzan had rarely seen a stranger sight than this white man, garbed and ornamented like some hideous savage, even to the necklace of human teeth. The fantastic creature sat under a tree, eating, evidently unaware of the proximity of the hunting lion.

The Jungle Lord noted that the man was strong and well-knit, with long, lithe muscles indicating agility. And there was a weirdness about him that set him apart from other jungle men. Further speculation was interrupted by a low snarl a short distance away.

The white savage sprang up. In one hand he grasped a spear, in the other a crude knife. Then the lion burst upon him at full charge. The man had no chance to seek safety in the trees. All that he could do, he did. He hastily hurled the heavy spear.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

But the suddenness of the attack unnerved him. The spear went wide, and the beast sprang at his prey. At the same moment Tarzan leaped for the carnivore. The impact toppled the lion, but with a roar the beast regained its feet to assail its new enemy!

TVA PROFFERS OPTION ON POWER AGREEMENT WITH SOUTHERN UNITS

Norris Emphatically Opposes Extension; Georgia Firm Involved.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority announced tonight it had offered a 30-day option on an existing power agreement with Commonwealth & Southern companies if the companies believed an agreement on extension of the contract could be reached in that time. The Georgia Power Company is among those affected.

The announcement said that "in offering the option the Authority emphasized that no extension of the present contract could be made if the Commonwealth & Southern companies continued to insist upon receiving as a condition of purchasing Tennessee Valley Authority power an exclusive monopoly over Tennessee Valley Authority power in the area served by the companies."

The existing contract is due to expire tomorrow.

The statement of TVA came a few hours after Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, had urged that the agency end the contract under which it sells power to the Commonwealth & Southern companies and agrees to stay out of certain power markets.

Norris, in talking with reporters, said, "I can't see any reason for renewing that contract so long as TVA is tied up with injunctions."

BRITAIN HONORED BY PHI BETA KAPPA

Tech President Named Head of Scholastic Society in State.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, was elected president of the Phi Beta Kappa Association of Georgia yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting in the Piedmont Driving Club.

Dudley R. Cowles, retiring president, who is leaving Atlanta to live in Boston, was host at a tea preceding the meeting. Robert L. Foreman was named vice president, and Mrs. Sam Cooper, secretary and treasurer.

Judge Richard B. Russell Sr., of the state supreme court; Dr. James R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott, and Robert P. McLarty were elected to the council. Plans were discussed for the convention of the national group, to be held here in September.

FRANCE ACTS TO MATCH HITLER IN ARMS RACE

PARIS, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A vast program to strengthen France's armed forces over a four-year period at a cost of 15,000,000,000 francs ($24,000,000,000) was disclosed today by Defense Minister Edouard Daladier.

His speech outlining the plan was cheered wildly and at its conclusion the government was awarded a vote of confidence, 405 to 180, endorsing the national defense policy. The program is designed to match German military preparations.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST FEARS FIRE AND FLOOD

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Road-plows and milder temperatures gave the Pacific northwest partial respite from traffic-halting snow today, but danger of fire and growing fears of flood hung over the storm-battered populace.

At least six people have lost their lives in winter's latest assault on the northwest.

Nine inches of rain fell at Marshfield on Coos Bay. Scores of lowland ranchers were driven from their homes. Streets were turned to rivers throughout the area.

NO CHARGES PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A. E. Donahay, acting director of the National Park Service, notified Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, today no definite proposal has been made to charge automobile license fees in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee, or on the Blue Ridge parkway.

House Democrats Back Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Democrats on the house ways and means committee formally advised the house today that "it is of imperative importance to our national interests" to continue the reciprocal trade agreements act.

Their report on a proposal to extend the act said the trade had aided economic recovery.

It also tended to promote world peace, they said, by removing "some of the most dangerous economic causes of war."

POLICE ELECT THREE AS PENSION TRUSTEES

Ellis, Ginn and Hardeman Are Chosen by Large Majorities.

A hotly-contested election for trusteeship of the Police Pension Fund early this morning saw Captain G. Neal Ellis, Lieutenant E. W. Ginn and Patrolman C. D. Hardeman victorious by wide majorities.

Other candidates were Lieutenant C. P. Allen, Patrolmen Byron Vinson and W. L. Tyson. The trustees will serve one-year terms.

A chief issue was advocacy of the $50 a month pension, as opposed to the $75 a month pension payment. Members of the police department voted as they came off watches yesterday and last night.

HEALTH INSURANCE MADE COMPULSORY

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 2.—(AP)—North America's first compulsory state health insurance program will go into effect in British Columbia March 1, under a plan, the health insurance commission stated today, designed to restore the family physician.

"To his proper sphere in medicine," the provincial commission announced the contemplated system of medical treatment and payment, and circularized all physicians and surgeons in British Columbia for cooperation.

SHIPPING LINES CHIEFS ARRESTED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Arnold Bernstein, head of the German Red Star and Arnold Bernstein shipping lines, and four directors of his companies were arrested a week ago, an authoritative source disclosed today.

The reason for their arrests was not learned immediately, this source declared. In other quarters, it was suggested the detention might have had some connection with foreign exchange restrictions.

Bernstein was held in Berlin and the four directors in Hamburg, headquarters of the companies.

DOESN'T KNOW REPUTATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. told a court hearing his $500,000 libel suit against Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, today that he did not know what was his "general reputation" in the community. His statement, made by proxy to the federal district court here, answered a question by Tinkham's attorney, Roger J. Whiteford, whether the bishop's reputation in "this community or the community where you live" was "good or bad."

GRAIN TRADE AID URGED

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—President Kenneth S. Templeton, of the Chicago Board of Trade, tonight said that members of the grain trade should help the federal government solve problems of crop insurance, guaranteed production costs and bills affecting processing costs.

PAID $18,500 TO THUGS

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Two Manhattan restaurantiers testified in supreme court today they had paid $3,500 and $15,000, respectively, to racketeers to prevent picketing and stench-bombing of their establishments and one admitted he lied to the grand jury in fear of being "taken for a ride."

ARABE INSURE CLAIM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau today abated a $1,202,053 claim for 1929 income taxes against Insull Utilities Investments, Inc., of Chicago. The bureau said it had determined the company was overassessed in this amount.

MRS. TRADER INDICTED IN DEATH OF RICH MATE

SNOW HILL, Md., Feb. 2.—(AP)—An indictment charging Mrs. Jeannette Trader with the murder of her wealthy husband was handed down today by the special grand jury investigating his fatal shooting in her home.

Judge James M. Crockett said the circuit court would convene Friday, when Mrs. Trader will be arraigned and formally charged with murder and her attorneys allowed to enter pleas.

Big Iceberg Seen In Path of Liners

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The coast guard tonight prepared for one of its earliest ice patrols, as reports came from ships at sea of dangerous icebergs along the fringe of the north Atlantic steamship lane.

The navy hydrographic office broadcast warnings to mariners of an iceberg 60 feet high and 200 feet long 20 miles north of the ordinary westbound steamship path.

PARTLY CLAD WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD IN TUB

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 2.—(UP)—Police were confronted with a new bathtub death mystery tonight when William F. Seaman, a newspaperman, returned to his apartment to find the body of his wife, Margaret, 32, in a tub partly filled with water in the bathroom of their apartment.

Police said Mrs. Seaman's body was nude except for part of her undergarments and that a fur coat was draped across her shoulders. An electric iron, not connected to a power socket, was in the partly filled tub.

Deputy Inspector Michael Murphy, one of the first to arrive at the apartment house, said Mrs. Seaman apparently had died from natural causes.

OFFICERS RENAMED BY CAPITAL CITY CLUB

Westmoreland, Howell and Perkerson Are Unopposed for Re-election.

Present officers of the Capital City Club were renominated last night at the annual meeting held at the club and attended by more than 250 members.

Officers renominated to serve second terms of a year were John Westmoreland, president; Clark Howell, vice president, and W. T. Perkerson, treasurer.

Nominated to the governing board for three-year terms were John O. Childs, Hugh Nunnally and William T. Healey. The retiring members of the governing board, whose terms expired, are John Grant Jr., Ryburn G. Clay and Strother Fleming.

Mr. Westmoreland presided at the meeting, one of the largest in many years, and submitted his report, which was one of the best in ten years.

Under Mr. Westmoreland's administration the club showed a profit last year, and many improvements were made. Mr. Westmoreland complimented W. P. Timmie, club manager, and members of the governing board for their splendid work.

Voting will take place from noon until 5 o'clock this afternoon. Those nominated, however, are without opposition.

Queen Mother Sees Stage Show

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The theatrical prelude to the coronation of King George VI in May opened tonight with Queen Mother Mary on hand to give royal acclaim.

Entering a theater for the first time since the death of her husband, the late George V, the aging Queen occupied a specially constructed box, walled in by flowers, at the premier of Elisabeth Bergner's new film, "Dreaming Lips."

A dinner followed the meeting. Committee members will be named at the first meeting of the board, following the annual meeting, to be held February 16.

INJUNCTION IS DENIED IN CITRUS AGREEMENT

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 2.—(UP)—United States District Judge Alexander Ackerman today refused six independent shipping companies an injunction which would have hamstrung the federal marketing agreement under which Florida is regulating flow of its bumper citrus crop.

BILL CORUM TO SPEAK AT AD CLUB MEETING

Bill Corum, New York sports writer, will be guest speaker at the luncheon-meeting of the Atlanta Advertising Club, to be held at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in Rich's tea room.

His subject will be "Good and Bad Advertising by Good and Bad Sports." John K. Ottley Jr., newly elected president, will preside.

Notice this sample puzzle. It represents a name. Can you find the name in the following list?

Tommy Tucker
Nora Bayes
Roger Williams

Paul Revere
Will Rogers
Georges Clemenceau

The solution, of course, is NORA BAYES.

Look at the N. Notice the OAR. Observe that the young lady is grunting "UH". Put all of those clues together and you have: N-OAR-UE, which combines to form the word NORA. The rest of the puzzle is easy. The B on the boat together with AYE-AYE (AYES), gives you B-AYES, pronounced as BAYES.

Thus the solution: NORA BAYES. You will not find this contest easy; particularly after the puzzles get harder, but if you truly enjoy a contest of skill, HERE IT IS!

This contest, in its entirety, copyrighted, 1937, by P. Lorillard Co., Inc.

Another way to get 3 Old Gold yellow package wrappers each week is to induce your friends or relatives to try this double-mellow cigarette. Feel free to do this because we will pay anyone twice what he paid for a trial package of Double-Mellow Old Golds if, after smoking ten of the cigarettes, he does not agree it's the finest "smoke" he ever tasted. This "Double-Money-Back" Offer holds good to the end of the contest.

Start in the contest today! Get your Official Puzzles FREE! Anywhere cigarettes are sold. You can win $100,000.00 cash First Prize!
